Action on Social Security

House Committee Votes to Increase Payroll Tax; Add to Persons Benefitted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The house ways and means committee agreed today to increase the social security payroll tax from $1,800,000,000 a year to $2,700,000,000 next year and to about $3,600,000,000 in 1951.

The committee also called for further increases in the taxes in 1960, 1965, and 1970, with rate reaching 3¼ percent as compared with the present one per cent against employer and employee.

The committee at the same time voted to increase by about 70 percent the old age and survivors benefits of persons already drawing such benefits. This is calculated as a "cost of living" increase.

These moves, all subject to house and senate approval, followed yesterday's committee approval of other sections of the social security expansion legislation that would add 11,000,000 workers to the 35,000,000 already covered by old age insurance.

An Important Decision

The committee's action came in the face of virtual abandnment by Democratic leaders of any hope for final congressional action this year on social security expansion.

The committee, in its most important social security action in a decade, decided also to boost old age insurance benefits by 50 to 150 per cent in some categories, and to increase the payroll taxes to finance the expanded program.

Under the legislation, confirming presently scheduled increases, the payroll taxes will jump from $1,800,000,000 to about $2,700,000,000 in 1950.

No Senate Action Soon

But one top Democrat told reporters there is little, if any, hope that the legislation will be passed by the senate before 1950 although a drive will be launched to press it through the house this year.

The senate legislative log jam prevents action there, he said.

Regardless of whether congress acts, the tax will increase from the present one per cent to -½ per cent against employes' pay and employers' payrolls on January 1.

The new legislation would bring in only a little over one-half of the 20,000,000 new workers president Truman asked congress to insure. But it would raise the total number covered from 35,000,000 to about 46,000,000 and give the presiden a large part of the other expansion features he requested.

Groups Left Out

Among large economic groups still left out of old age insurance, under the bill, are about 5,000,000 farm operators and 3,500,000 farm workers. Those covered, if the house and senate agree with the committee, would be:

4,500,000 self-employed persons other than farmers, doctors and lawyers.

600,000 employes of no-profit institutions other than ministers.

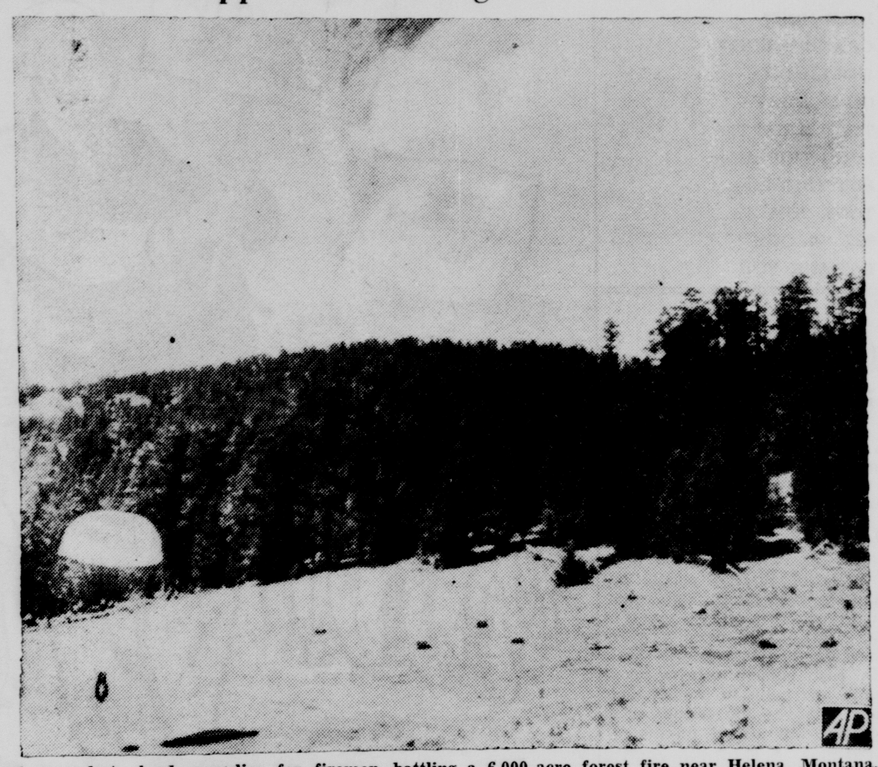

750,000 domestic servants not in a farm home, when regularly employed.

4,000,000 state and local government employes, if these governing bodies approve.

100,000 federal employes not now under a retirement program.

500,000 in miscellaneous groups.

School Board Receives Four Resignations

J. T. Alexander, Music Director, Going to Illinois

The resignation of J. T. Alexander, director of music in the Sedalia public schools, was accepted by the board of education, at a meeting held Monday night in the office of the school superintendent, Heber U. Hunt.

Mr. Alexander has accepted a position as director of music in the township high school and junior college at Centralia, Ill., at a salary considerably larger than he received here.

Mr. Alexander came to Sedalia in 1935 and was here with the Sedalia public schools until 1941, when he accepted a position as music director at Kemper Military academy, Boonville. While there he entered military service and spent 30 months in the army.

Returned in 1946

He returned to Sedalia in 1946 as director of music in the public schools. During his residence here he has taken an active part in civic affairs, given of his time and talents to public musical events, and has been a part of the social life of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, who reside at 1816 West Broadway, are leaving within the near future for Centralia.

Other Resignations

Other resignations accepted were those of Mrs. David Routszong, who had been employed to teach at Whittier school; Mrs. George H. Miller, who taught two classes of art in Smith-Cotton high school and Miss Audrey Cramer, secretary at Washington school.

Elected to teach were Miss Dorothy Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dean, who will be assigned to one of the elementary schools; Miss Marilyn Williams, as secretary at Washington school and Mrs. H. B. Bamburg, as a primary teacher. Mrs. Bamburg, whose husband is an attorney, is a newcomer in Sedalia.

The vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Miller will not be fulfilled, and no art will be taught at Smith-Cotton.

Coal bids had been advertised for. Two were received and both rejected. Smith-Cotton has been equipped with aparatus for gas heating and the coal needed is for stokers in the other schools.

C. of C. Board Meets Wednesday

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board members will be held at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, August 17, in the office of the Sedalia Bank and Trust company.

To Inspect For Testing Field

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)— A sprawling ordnance plant near Pryro, Okla., will be inspected sometime next week as a possible site for a U. S. air force supersonic testing ground.

This announcement was made here today by M. S. Lundquist, secretary of the Pryor Chamber of Commerce, after a meeting with a private St. Louis firm of consulting engineers.

The engineers (Sverdrup & Parcel, Inc.) have been designated by the air force to conduct the inspection. They will be accompanied by engineers from Wright Field, O.

Lundquist said actual date of the inspection will be announced by officials at Wright field.

"I don't know how many sites the air force is investigating, but we in Oklahoma feel we have the most suitable spot," Lundquist said.

Act to Remedy Condition of Park Lagoon

The slimy substance in the lagoon at Liberty Park is not conducive to any disease, according to an official of the State Health Department of Jefferson City, who made this report to one of the Liberty Park members in a telephone conversation Monday.

The park board is making every effort to correct the condition in the lagoon, and in the next day or two, chemicals will be distributed over the water by boat. It is the hope of the park board that fish will not be killed in the attempt to clean out the slime.

The Sedalia fire department has aerated the lagoon three different times. By spraying water over the lake with five streams of water going at one time, oxygen was retained in the lagoon to prevent fish from coming to the surface and dying. However this effort did not relieve the odor still prevalent around the lagoon. In the words of residents in the vicinity of the Liberty lagoon, "it still stinks out here."

Members of the park board are Joseph W. Reid, chairman, Linsey Hayden, Cline Cain and Leo Bopp.

Invite Negro Doctors To Clinical Sessions

DETROIT, Aug. 9—(AP)— The American Medical Association today invited Negro doctors generally to attend clinical sessions at its midwinter meeting at Washington, D. C., Dec. 6-9.

The invitation was extended to Negro physicians attending the annual convention of their national medical association. It came from Dr. George F. Lull, secretary and general manager of the AMA.

Military Rule In Ecuador to Stop Looting

Some Indians Had Threatened to Go on Rampage

By Jorge Mantilla

QUITO, Ecuador, Aug. 9—(AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso's government took stern measures to prevent looting and disorder in Ecuador's earthquake area after the army reported that some Indians had threatened to go on a looting rampage.

The cabinet authorized military rule wherever necessary in the stricken area. The threat of Indian trouble plagued authorities struggling to house and feed 100,000 persons made homeless by Friday's earthquake.

Health Problems

The destruction of water systems brought threats of public health problems. An airlift continued flying supplies into the stricken region.

A spokesman for the president said the government had not yet been able to compile a death list, but estimated the toll was between 2,000 and 4,000. Earlier estimates of the dead had ranged up to 6,000.

Some persons thought a complete tabulation might never be made.

The authorities were prepared to hit hard against looters. Civil guards and police said they would shoot without questioning anyone caught pillaging ruined buildings and fields.

Military to Area

A special cavalry detachment was ordered to the Pelileo area, one of the most heavily damaged regions, to control the Selasacas Indians.

Army officers said they learned from Salasacas Indians that members of the tribe planned to loot the ruins.

The government planned to issue $117,000 worth of bonds to finance quake reconstruction. Newspapers said the country might obtain a loan from the United States.

Child Dies of Burns; Fell Into Hot Water

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—Judy Dixon, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Dixon, died in a hospital here today from burns suffered yesterday when she fell into a bucket of scalding water.

The accident occured at the Dixon farm home near La Plata, Mo., when Mrs. Dixon was preparing chickens for a cold storage locker and the child backed into the bucket of scalding water on the floor.

Youth Injured While Mowing on Farm

Jimmie Lee Shireman, 15-year-old son of Clarence Shireman, of Houstonia, was injured Monday evening while mowing clover on his father's farm. As the boy stepped down off the mower, the cuff of his pants caught on the power-take-off shaft and pulled him down. The flesh on the inside part of his right leg was torn to the bone. He was taken to Bothwell hospital about 8:00 o'clock Monday night where he is now a patient. The injury is not serious.

Says Vaughan Called Him to White House

Stating His Friends Were Interested in Construction Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Housing expediter Tighe Woods said today that Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan summoned him to the White House in 1948 and told him Vaughan's friends were interested in a California race track construction case.

Woods said the track owners then were trying to get government clearance for construction at the Tanforan track, near San Francisco, Calif. The use of scarce building materials was sharply restricted at the time.

The housing official told a special Senate investigating committee that Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, told him at the White House on Jan. 9, 1948:

Wanted No Prejudice

"I want to make sure there is no prejudice in your office just because this is a race track case."

Woods said Vaughan also told him:

"Some friends of mine are interested and it is your duty to handle the case on its merits and on its legality."

Francis D. Flanagan, an attorney for the committee, previously had read a private memorandum saying Vaughan had stepped into the dispute. It quoted Vaughan as saying he was "damn sore" at Frank L. Creedon, federal housing expediter in 1947, for his handling of the case.

Creedon was succeeded by Woods, who testified he had been expediter only a little more than two months when Vaughan got in touch with him.

Work Went on

The government had ordered construction work at Tanforan halted in 1947. Other witnesses testified that construction went ahead anyway and that it took a court order to stop it.

Flanagan said the memorandum which purported to be the gist of a telephone conversation with Vaughan, came from the office of James V. Hunt.

Hunt, a business counselor here, has been a key figure in the committee's inquiry in activities of so-called five percenters — persons who charge a fee for help in getting government contracts for others. Their commission is usually five per cent of the gross proceeds from the contract.

Hunt has said he is a good friend of Vaughan, but has denied that he ever attempted to trade on "influence."

Temperatures Are on The Up

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—There wasn't much on the weather map today to cheer the sweltering populace in the eastern half of the nation.

A narrow band of cool air was moving slowly eastward from the Rockies across the Dakotas and Minnesota, but it showed no signs of spreading out. It was expected, however, to push into the great lakes region by late tomorrow and turn temperatures there back into the 80's after three days of 90-degree readings.

General cloudiness brought some relief throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and some other great plains areas. Local showers were reported from South Dakota on southward to Oklahoma.

Temperatures upwards from the lower 90's were in prospect today from the Mississippi valley to the Atlantic coast. The mercury kept within normal ranges along the Pacific coast.

Trick Picture Wasn't Funny

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 9—(AP)— A trick picture of a mammoth grasshopper which the Peoria Star printed yesterday wasn't nearly as comical as staff members thought it would be.

The newspaper is begging forgiveness of its readers today and says it "regrets frivolous toying with the truth."

The trick picture was made by Velde Johnson, Jr., an amateur photographer. It made the grasshopper appear to be as large as a hayrack on which it was riding.

The humorous caption for the picture said the 'hopper later was seen heading southward "in 100 yard leaps."

Shortly after the paper appeared on the streets, the Star's telephones were swamped with calls. Peorians wanted to know more details of the giant 'hopper. One reader indignantly said it should have been shot.

A mother called the picture "terrible" and told the newspaper that it had shocked her children.

Barkley Doesn't Mind

What does Emily Post have to say about putting on lipstick in public? Vice-president Alben W. Barkley doesn't seem to mind Mrs. Carlaton S. Hadley's doing it at the Cardinal-Giant game in St. Louis, Mo. The vice-president made his second flying trip to St. Louis this summer, and has seen the attractive widow, left above, on both unscheduled trips. NEA TELEPHOTO)

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Senator Vandenburg (R-Mich) today proposed a 50 per cent cash reduction in the first year's cost of the western European arms program.

The Michigan senator suggested to Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson that about $580,000,000 be furnished in cash by Congress—with the balance in contract authorizations (to be set later by appropriations) which would not be charged against the current budget.

Vandenberg said he believes the budget President Truman sent Congress for the 1950 fiscal year carries funds for European military aid which would cover almost all the money cost of the first year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Some Republicans were reported working up a token protest today against President Truman's appointment of Attorney General Tom Clark to the supreme court.

Nevertheless Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, flatly predicted Clark's confirmation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9—(AP)—The government expects to conclude its treason case against Tokyo Rose this week.

Prosecutor Tom DeWolfe said some of the government's 35 remaining witnesses may not testify against the defendant, Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino.

Mrs. D'Aquino, who was born in Los Angeles and went to Japan shortly before World War II, is accused of treason by broadcasting from radio Tokyo to lower morale of American troops in the Pacific. The government says she was the wartime Tokyo Rose.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Secretary of Treasury Snyder today urged Congress to encourage private U. S. investments abroad by offering guarantees against what he called "risks peculiar to foreign investment."

This step would be in support of President Truman's proposal to help "underdeveloped areas of the world to increase their productivity and living standards" Snyder said. Mr. Truman made the proposal in his inaugural address last January.

Bills introduced by the administration would allow the government owned Export-Import bank to offer the guarantees.

Ships to Stand By

HONG KONG, Aug. 9—(AP)—American ships and flying boats will stand by to evacuate all American nationals from Communist threatened Canton in an emergency, consul general George D. Hopper said today.

Hopper said only a small number of Americans had left the Chinese Nationalist provisional capital.

Foreign Aid Bill Is Passed

Speeds Toward Final Action After Stormy Passage; Vote 63 to 7

By Don Whitehead

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The multi-billion dollar foreign recovery bill sped toward final congressional action today after a stormy passage through the senate.

Lawmakers expected a Senate-House committee to reach quick agreement on the somewhat different versions the two branches have passed. The Senate approved its bill late yesterday by a top-heavy 63 to 7 vote.

Senators ended almost two weeks of wrangling to shake the measure free from the confusion which had blocked action on more than $20,000,000,000 in money bills in addition to other legislation marked "must" by the administration.

Final Showdown

When the final showdown came, only six Republicans and one Democrat voted against the $5,797,724,000 measure.

The lone Democrat was Johnston of South Carolina. The Republican opponents were Capehart and Jenner of Indiana, Kem of Missouri, Langer of North Dakota, Malone of Nevada, and Williams of Maryland.

Despite all the sound and fury of debate, the Senate bill does not differ greatly from the House-approved measure. The Senate reduced the money totals about 10 per cent and added some amendments—none of which is expected to cause much trouble.

Kem made the final effort to amend the bill with a move to deny Economic Cooperation Administration aid to any nation which in the future nationalized a basic industry.

The amendment was drawn to throw a brake on the British labor government's socialization program.

Kem's Argument

Kem argued that socialization in Britain is slowing down the recovery effort. The United States, he said, should encourage private enterprise not only at home but abroad.

Opponents of his plan declared this would be an unwarranted interference by this government in the internal affairs of Europe.

The Kem amendment was ruled out of order last Friday by Senator Tydings (D-Md), the Senate's presiding officer at the time. He held it violated Senate rules against writing policy-making law into an appropriation bill.

Kem appealed the ruling but the Senate voted against him 50 to 21. He then tried to have the Senate suspend its rules to permit a vote on the amendment. This move lost 49 to 24—thus heading the amendment to its final defeat.

Dressing up Teen-Town Club

'Teen-agers will be surprised when they return to 'Teen-Town, located in the city hall building this fall, because big plans are in the making at the present time.

Just like everyone wanted—the dance floor will be larger and private, being seperated from the recreation room. More ping pong tables will be added, and some of the existing tables are being repaired and the pool tables recovered. Other improvements on 'Teen Town will we made before opening date, September 9.

'Teen Town directors expressed the desire for an electric record player and booths to line one side of the room so the youngsters will have a spot to eat their hot dogs and drink soda pop.

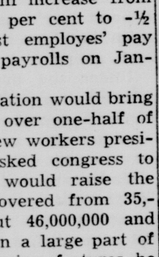

Anyone wishing to donate a record player or booths, call 536-W and it will be very much appreciated by 'Teen-Town personnel.

Group of Merchants Meet on Closing

Some of the Sedalia merchants operating chain stores have changed plans as to Thursday night openings.

At a meeting held Monday night in the J. C. Penney company store, 28 merchants expressed their desire to remain open on Saturday night, but to close on Thursday nights. At the conclusion of the meeting, those present agreed that in their opinion Sedalia shoppers prefer Saturday night shopping to that on Thursday night.

The Weather

Partly cloudy, warm and humid tonight and Wed., with likelihood of scattered thundershowers tonight or Wed. morning. Lowest tonight in lower 70s. High Wed. near 90.

Temperature: 7 a. m. 69 degrees; 2 p. m. 89 degrees.

Lake of Ozarks: 1.5; fall .3.

Sun rise 5:21 a. m. Sun set 7:18 p. m.

Full moon August 8; Last quarter August 16.

Thought for Today

There is a green hill far away,
Without a city wall,
Where the dear Lord was crucified
Who died to save us all.

Government to Have Planes In Air Show Here Sunday

Sedalia's annual air show, at the Municipal airport is expected to exceed the program of 1948 with the assistance of planes from the U. S. Air Forces. The show, sponsored this year by the Sedalia Lions club, will be free to the public and will be held Sunday, August 14.

The air show is sponsored by the Sedalia Flying club which members are cooperating with the Lions to produce a bigger and better event.

Scott W. Donaldson, special assistant to Secretary of Aair Stuart W. Symington, informed the committee of the Lions that every effort is being made to give the show some color in government exhibitions. The plan will include a formation of planes to be flown over and will include four jet aircraft.

An air force representative is coming to Sedalia to complete the plans with the Lions club.

Little Girl, With Cancer, is Unafraid as Plane Crashes

ANNISTON, Ala., Aug. 9—(AP)—A little girl sat quietly and unafraid as a plane taking her to a date with a cancer specialist crashed while taking off today.

Nor was she afraid to board another plane which left an hour later for New York.

No one aboard was injured as the pilot calmly brought the ship down, after it hit a clump of trees.

Doctors said five-year-old Janice Medders has sarcoma, a dangerous form of muscle cancer which spreads quickly through the blood stream. They don't give the child much of a chance.

The Anniston Star sponsored an appeal which raised $500 to finance Janice's trip to New York for examination by a specialist.

Janice and her father, M. A. Medders, a garage mechanic, boarded a privately owned plane before dawn today.

The pilot, W. F. Oswalt, said dew splashed across the windshield, and he hit a clump of trees near the runway. He cut the switch and brought the plane down right side up.

Janice and her father transferred to another plane piloted by Harmon Lane and left for New York.

Medina Showed Discretion in Permitting Reds to Rant

By Bruce Biossat

The "field day" is over for the attorneys defending the 11 Communist leaders on trial in New York. Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, who has been a model of patience through seven months of deliberate provocation and planned confusion, suddenly has switched tactics and is applying stern measures against the Communists' lawyers.

One of their most exasperating maneuvers has been to keep up an almost endless flow of frenzied argument, in defiance of general court room procedure and specific warnings from Medina. He has now told them they will no longer be allowed to indulge in long speeches every time they to object. He will ask a U. S. marshal to force them to sit down if necessary.

He has informed them their constant violation of many rules was willfully and deliberately done and "contemptuous." This was a further sign that when the trial is over the Communists' lawyers will certainly face serious contempt charges and possibly worse.

Medina likewise has directed the attorneys to stop trying to refute the charges against the defendants — conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government by force and violence — by making counter-charges against others.

"We've heard enough about force and violence by others," the judge said. "I want to hear what these defendants did or said on that score."

Many observers probably would say "its about time."

Many of them undoubtedly felt Medina should have meted out severe punishment quickly and thus halted the lawyers' irresponsible courtroom behavior at the start.

We think, however, that the judge acted with eminent good sense and high judicial purpose in giving the defendants and their lawyers wide latitude. He has thereby denied them any real chance of accusing him of prejudice and has averted the danger of a mistrial.

He has left the way open for the defense to compile a record of courtroom disobedience seldom if ever matched in judicial annals. That record will stand against the defendants should they try to appeal in the event of conviction Furthermore, it can now be used by Medina as good warrant for stern discipline which, if applied earlier, might have made him vulnerable to criticism.

It is really amazing that the Communists seem to believe their tactics have any value. They must imagine they are doing a superb job of discrediting American justice and at the same time spreading propaganda all over the map.

Actually about all they have accomplished by their disreputable courtroom tactics is to make Medina look like a very able jurist with a great talent for dealing with legal hooliganism.

American Negroes to Counteract Paul Robeson's Communism In Scandinavia

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, August 9 — A theatrical company of American Negroes will tour the Scandinavian countries next month to offset Paul Robeson's Communist-sponsored barnstorming.

The Negro players will present Henrik Ibsen's "The Wild Duck" in Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and thus demonstrate that all American Negroes aren't downtrodden, but can attain the same educational and cultural heights as other Americans.

This goodwill tour was arranged by the Norwegian embassy and Howard university of Washington, D. C., without any prompting from the state department. Twenty-one students and three instructors from Howard university's drama department will make the trip, most of the expenses being paid by Blevins Davis, American philanthropist, who also brought an American company to Denmark to play "Hamlet."

The idea of sending Negro players to Scandinavia was suggested by Ivan Jacobsen, staff member of the Norwegian embassy, after he happened to see the Howard university drama department in action. He felt that Paul Robeson had not painted a true picture of the American Negroes, and so on his own initiative promoted the tour as a gesture of people-to-people friendship.

Prediction: This will do almost as much good as some phases of the North Atlantic Pact.

The Amazing Maragon

Sam Boykin, head of the state department's gumshoe department and cousin of Alabama's congressman Boykin, is very secretive about it, but he is hushing up another strange chapter in the strange life of John Maragon.

Though the state department won't talk, Maragon was mixed up in a deal to buy all the surplus U. S. army vehicles in Germany—about 7,000 trucks, trailers and jeeps. The price was $1,250,000 and the sale was consummated Jan. 31, 1948, to a Belgian scrap dealer.

Maragon was representing a Britisher, George Dawson, who has a criminal record, and for whom he had also done some work in Washington with the War Assets Administration. Maragon's close contact in war assets has been Joe Major, a member of Truman's battery D, and an intimate of General Vaughan's. Major recently flew with the president to Little Rock for their battery's reunion. He also states that he has received about 500 phone calls from Vaughan, visits at his home about once a week and got to know Maragon through Vanghan.

Arriving in Paris in the winter of 1948, the amazing Maragon presented letters of introduction to Gen. Clyde Hyssong, in charge of war surplus for the state department, and then proceeded to charge the general with giving unwarranted information to Jack Van Allen, a rival of Maragon's who also represented Dawson.

In the end, the state department had to send a special investigator across the Atlantic to straighten out the row.

In the end, also, Dawson and Maragon did not get the 7,000 surplus vehicles, though they did get 700 army motorcycles after a heated row over the price.

Backstage With the GOP

The backstage story of what happened inside the Republican national committee shows how bitterly the Taft-Dewey forces are still divided.

The man chiefly responsible for Guy Gabrielson's hairbreadth election as chairman was Taft's close friend, hefty Republican Clarence Brown of Ohio.

It was Brown, working closely with Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, who induced Abel Shotwell of Nebraska to switch to Gabrielson, thus clinching a majority of the committee's 102 votes for the New Jerseyite.

In doing so, Brown definitely ruled himself out as a compromise candidate for the chairmanship.

At one point the Taft forces were flabbergasted at a Dewey offer, made by Mason Owlett of Pennsylvania, to support Taft's close friend, Brown, provided Gabrielson agreed to step out.

It was tempting bait but Brown didn't bite.

"I am not a candidate," he told Owlett. "I have come out for Gabe and I won't let him down."

Mississippi Vetoes Halleck

At one point when Indiana's Charlie Halleck was proposed as a compromise by Deweyites, Perry Howard, Negro national committeeman from Mississippi, threatened to resign.

"I can't face my colored friends and tell them I have been a party to any such compromise," Howard announced at the secret session. "I am opposed to Charlie Halleck and will step out if he is chosen as our leader."

Halleck's friends scoffed at rumors he is anti-Negro and insisted that Perry Howard was playing politics for his friend, Bob Taft.

However, another committeeman referred to "Drew Pearson's" report that the Indiana congressman rode around in Cadillac limousines on a congressman's salary.

"If Charlie Halleck were elected he'd have five Cadillac limousines around national headquarters," commented one Taft rooter.

However, when Halleck was approached by Deweyites he flatly refused to be a candidate unless Gabrielson dropped out of the race and he was to be elected unanimously.

• So They Say

The Marshall plan is like a dike around Europe. If it protects Europe from the poisoned flood waters welling up from Moscow, it will only be at the expense of diverting the tide across Asia. — Chinese President Li Tsung-Jen.

The materialism of modern life has been rendered even more grave by the weakening of the institution of matrimony. The war has caused the violent separation of millions of husbands and wives and destroyed millions of homes, aggravating the perils of immorality.—Pope Pius XII.

Out Kansas way, folks don't bother to define why they're friendly. They just are. — Joyce C. Hall, president, Hallmark Greeting Card Co.

Some critics of the Brannan Plan oppose it because it serves both the farmer and the consumer. In my judgment this is one of its greatest assets. A program that benefits only one group is not workable nor is it desirable.—Ohio Grange Master Joseph W. Fichter.

These recommendations of drastic reforms are opposed by many bureaucratic empire builders. It is only the citizens who can stop such obstructionism. — Former President Herbert Hoover, referring to the Hoover Commission's recommendations for government reorganization.

The world knows that this nation will always continue to seek a formula for settling international disputes without fighting, but never again with our eyes closed, never again through a policy of self-inflicted weakness. — Air Force Secretary W. Stuart Symington.

I want absolute freedom of worship and religious teaching; but at the same time I believe in separation of church and state. — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt denying Cardinal Spellman's charges of anti-Catholicism and intolerance.

Communism is basically rotten and contains within itself the seeds of its own destruction. This we believe with all our hearts and souls and it is time — past time — that as a nation we started acting on our beliefs.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, criticizing the Truman administration's "no-policy-at-all" in China.

Never in all the world's history was there a clearer or more urgent need for men to seek to eliminate controversy from their lives. Since controversy begins in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed. — William L. Batt, president, SKF Industries, Inc.

Community-wide TB Surveys Can Save Unwitting Victims

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
WRITTEN for NEA Service

The great white plague, or tuberculosis as it is more commonly known today, is an infestious disease. The germ which causes it is most commonly caught from a person with the disease, although it can be carried also by unpasteurized milk or contaminated meat.

The best line of attack is to prevent the spread of the germ. One of the best ways to attack this problem is to survey the entire population of a community or city with the aim of picking out those who have the disease but do not even know it.

People who do not even know they have tuberculosis may infect others. The community survey has now become possible because of revolutionary improvements in the technical methods of diagnosing tuberculosis. This technical improvement involves the use of a tiny or miniature X-ray film.

Big-City Experiment

Probably Savannah, Ga., was one of the first large cities to try this method out on a large scale. The county in which Savannah is located has a population of 150,000. During the autumn of 1945, nearly 75,000 residents of the county appeared voluntarily for chest X-rays.

Since that time several other cities, including Washington, D. C., Seattle, Washington and Cleveland, O. (in which such a survey is now in progress), have carried out similar X-ray surveys aimed at revealing unsuspected cases of the disease.

Mass tuberculosis surveys offer a wonderful means of picking out unknown tuberculosis (and often equally unknown other diseases of the chest). This permits many thousands to obtain proper treatment early enough to bring about a cure and helps to protect their many relatives and friends from acquiring this serious disease.

QUESTION: Come members of my family are subject to bloating indigestion and nervousness with coated tongue and backache. What is this condition?

ANSWER: There are several possibilities. The most likely is a condition called spastic colon. The bloating could be caused by swallowing air unconsciously, a condition which is fairly common and associated with some nervous dispositions.

Loving Your Husband is Fine, But Liking Him Helps Out, Too

After 10 years of reading letters from women, I've come to the sad and somewhat disillusioning conviction that a great many women don't like their husbands. Like, I said, not love.

How can you like someone you don't trust? And yet the wife who trusts her husband is pretty rare these days. Maybe it's because women have been fed so much "how to hold your man" advice they can't help being suspicious.

And how can you possibly like someone you think doesn't appreciate you? Yet there are an awful lot of wives who claim they love their husbands, and undoubtedly do, who are convinced their husbands don't appreciate them.

Also, how can you like somebody and be eternally irritated by him? "George makes me so mad . . ." is the standard way of opening up a let's-discuss-our-husbands conversation, when only women are present.

And if you like somebody, are you resentful for the things you do for his convenience and comfort? Women will knock themselves out to offer their friends the best hospitality they can dish up, but they complain about the dull business of feeding George three meals a day and keeping his home tidy.

Why Criticism Instead Of Admiration?

Also, if you like somebody you want everybody else to like and admire him. Why then do wives go to such great length to run down their husbands?

This, I think is the cause of much of the unhappiness of modern marriages. Too many wives don't like their husbands. And love just isn't a steady enough emotion to make for harmony day in and day out.

It's the wife who likes as well as loves her husband who is a pleasant companion and easy to live with. Because she likes him, he doesn't often annoy her or get on her nerves. She takes pleasure in making him happy and comfortable at home. And she wants everybody else to like him, too.

What man wouldn't be happy in that kind of atmosphere? But how many of them find it—at home?

How to Win Friends And Influence People

The Nation Today

Step Taken Toward Bringing More People Under SS Act

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—For a long time there have been rumblings about bringing more people under the protection of social security and increasing the payments to old people.

President Truman has asked Congress to do it. Last night a step was taken in that direction when the house ways and means committee approved legislation to do that.

But this is only a bill which the committee will send up to the full house for a vote. The house may approve it before quitting, in a month or so, for the rest of 1949.

That's not enough to make even one change in the present law, unless the senate also approves. It's doubtful that the senate will do anything about it before quitting this year.

The Best Guess

The best guess is that the present law will remain unchanged for this year at least. It the house approves the bill this year, maybe the senate will next year.

Under the present law about 35,000,000 people are covered. The bill would bring in another 11,000,000, leaving 14,000,000 or so people still unprotected, many of them farmers.

There's no room here to go into detail of the law or the bill that would change. But one part of the law and the bill can be examined. That's old-age insurance.

That insurance is the payment or pension, which workers receive from the government when they retire at 65, if they've covered by the law.

Not All Workers Covered

(The present law doesn't cover many kinds of workers, like those employed by non-profit organizations, farmers and so on).

To pay for this old age insurance the government now collects a tax of one per cent from each "covered" employe and one per cent from his employer up to $3,000 of the worker's wages or salary.

(In other words, no matter how much a person made over $3,000, he'd be taxed only on the first $3,00 of it).

The committee bill would raise the tax—how much hasn't been decided by the committee—and it would raise the taxable income from the present $3,000 to $3,600.

Although the present law went into effect Jan. 1, 1937—the date on which the government started collecting taxes—no one bagan receiving the old age insurance until 1940.

The Highest Ammount

The highest pension, or old age insurance, that can be paid an over-65 worker now is $44.80. He won't get that much unless he had been receiving at least $3,000 a year since Jan. 1, 1937.

His wife, when she reaches 65, gets half as much pension as he does. So the wife of a man receiving $44.80 would get $22.40. Together, their total pension would be $67.20.

The committee bill would boost the pensions. A man now getting $44.80 would be jumped to $74.20 and his wife would get a jump in her pension to $37.10 from $22.40.

The lowest pension anyone can receive now is $10 a month. The bill would make the lowest anyone could get $25.

Bill Would Be Retroactive

The bill would be retroactive. For Example:

It would boost the pensions already being received by people who began getting it anytime between 1940 and the time the bill became law. How much of a boost they'd get would depend upon how much pension they've been geting.

Under the present law, suppose a "covered" worker became permanently disabled. He wouldn't get any pension until he reached 65.

Under the bill a worker—say 30 years old—who became permanently disabled now would get a pension, a pension as much as he would receive if he had worked to 65.

THE STORY: A wealthy widow, Mrs. Everson, is fleeing with her servants in two giant trailers from an atomic war which she believes is impending. In the party are Mrs. Malone, cook and housekeeper; Rudy, the chauffeur; Victor, the houseboy, and the Marchese Dellacasa, Mrs. Everson's companion. It becomes evident that Mrs. Everson is in love with Rudy and Mrs. Malone hears from Mrs. Everson herself that "after the explosion," men will be weak and that those who have prepared for survival will rule. Mrs. Everson intends to be a dictator. Mrs. Malone has tried several times to run away, but she has failed each time. Now she tells herself wearily, she will let the thing work itself out.

* * *

ON the morning of a bright, calm day, the trailer caravan came to a small settlement: little more, really, than a general store and a cluster of shacks—what had been, 50 years or more ago, a mining town.

Mrs. Everson purchased most of the storekeeper's stock of stale chocolate bars, soap, twine, pop, cereals and canned fish. The old fellow wanted to know where they were going, but got no answer—only one of Mrs. Everson's marble-blue stares.

The Marchese, dressed as if for the beach at Cannes, inspected the dusty shelves, admiring faded bolts of cotton-cloth and trays full of cheap combs, as if he were shopping at Cartier's.

"Very nice," he said. "Very smart."

For himself he bought a pair of gloves lined with lamb's wool, and a hunter's cap with a visor like a duck's bill. Mrs. Malone realized that it was his kindly impulse to please the old storekeeper, who might have suspected these elegant visitors of patronizing his stock.

This was the last outpost of civilization. Here there was at least a telephone, a stretch of pavement, a garage, a fly-specked "hotel" advertising rooms at 50 cents a night, dinner $1.

Beyond, for 75 miles, the shining procession moved cautiously along a dirt road that seemed to take its own wilful way, climbing steadily as it pierced narrow, fertile valleys or emerged into long stretches of arid land.

At one moment they were among trees, the next they were plowing heavily through sand. And always, in the distance, a wall of tumbled mountains grew imperceptibly nearer and higher.

* * *

LATE in the afternoon the trailers entered a beautiful, wooded canyon, narrow between high walls. The sun touched only the topmost russet rims. Below, where a shallow and crystal-clear stream meandered in a wide, boulder-strewn bed, everything seemed bathed in green light. Birds were flashing high up, their wings catching the last gold of the sun.

Presently the canyon walls drew back, leaving space for a miniature forest. The caravan rocked and bumped through this for some little distance, then dipped steeply into the river-bed. At this point the stream made a hairpin turn around a large sand-spit.

And here, on this sand-spit, at last, they stopped for good.

* * *

MRS. MALONE'S first reaction was one of great happiness, the upper level of her mind taking time out for a brief holiday from apprehension.

It was as if she had entered into a new dimension, where time, with its endlessly ticking seconds, had ceased to be. A mysterious beauty enfolded this refuge; it was as hauntingly unreal as a dream, yet with none of a dream's vague terror. Here was only peace, a deep satisfaction, an exquisite sense of safety.

The river-bed was strewn with boulders and silvery-dry branches and logs. On either side the forest stood straight and tall, forming aisles and arches, shadowy corridors into mystery. And all about them, now, loomed the mountains.

There was no time to explore the terrain before night closed down. It turned cold beneath the stars, and soon after dinner everyone went to bed. Mrs. Malone lay in the purple-blue darkness, conscious of the release from tension, her body relaxed, listening to the ceaseless rush and plash of the stream. Soon she fell asleep, and slept all night as a child sleeps who knows it is surrounded by love. The last thing she thought was:

"I'm glad I came. This is wonderful. Wonderful . . ."

Morning, too, held the same quality of exultant peace. There was much to be done, and Rudy, with Victor's help, began the job of making permanent camp.

There were many things to be done, but the first thing, which assumed prime importance to Mrs. Everson, was the location of the trailers. She decided to leave the big trailer, which was her home, on the sandy point in the river bed.

This trailer was jacked up by Rudy and Victor and resettled on strong supports.

Next Victor drove the small trailer and the sedan to higher ground, overlooking the river bed, a little distance away in the woods. It would be necessary for Rudy, Victor and Mrs. Malone to scramble up and down the bank to go from one trailer to the other.

The truck, until unloaded, was to remain where it had stopped.

Social Events

Carrying on the custom started years ago by his mother, Mrs. M. Chasnoff, David Chasnoff, now of Kansas City, but formerly of this city, gave a party and treat Monday afternoon for the children at the Melita Day Nursery in memory of his brother, Joseph Chasnoff, who died in a fire in St. Louis many years ago. Each year on the birthday anniversary of her son, Joseph, Mrs. Chasnoff gave a treat to the children of the nursery. During the past year Mrs. Chasnoff died and on August 8, his brother's birthday anniversary, David Chasnoff remembered and continued his mother's custom of a party for the children.

The Gehringer reunion, which is held annually the first Sunday in August, was held at the Liberty park in Sedalia, Sunday, August 7.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Needy, Mrs. Jabe Potter and Ghery Reuter of Clifton City, Mrs. Stape Phillips of Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips and Judith Charles of Kansas City and Bill Phillips of Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. W. G. Borne', 1315 South Kentucky avenue, gave a luncheon Monday in the Scenic Room at Flowers in honor of Mrs. James McCabe, of La Grange, Ill., who is visiting in Sedalia.

It will be guest day at the Ladies Auxiliary of the Elks luncheon to be held in the club room, Thursday, at 1:00 o'clock. Hostesses for the day will be: Mrs. Lester Strickler, Mrs. John O'Brien, Mrs. Walter Cramer, Mrs. John Devine, Mrs. Herman Farris.

There will be no luncheon August 25, due to the Missouri State Fair.

A birthday party was given to Eugene Fry Sunday by his mother, Mrs. Delphia Fry, 703 East Seventeenth street in honor of his 18th birthday.

Twenty-one friends and relatives were served refreshments which consisted of fried chicken, angel food cake, watermelon and ice cream.

CHURCH NEWS

"Does It Pay," was the topic presented before a meeting of the Women's Guild of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Michael Wolfel, chairman of the social service department, assisted by Mrs. O. A. Wagner, Mrs. Louise Metcalf, Mrs. Fred Griessen, Mrs. Louise White and Mrs. Roy Strain who real letters from persons in German acknowledging the receipt of packages of food and clothing. The letters were full of gratitude, not only for the life giving food but for the fact that there the Christians in the United States who care for them.

The women of the Immanuel church, agree that food packages for a former enemy nation, pay big dividends both to the Christian church and to the individual Christian.

A worship service, preceding the program, was led by Mrs. William Bessmer, spiritual life chairman. A loaf of bread, lighted by a single candle, formed an effective worship center in keeping with the topic which followed Mrs. Bessmer quoted from the Vision of Sir Launfal: "The Holy Supper is kept indeed in what so we share with anothers need. not what we give but what we share, for the gift without the giver is bare; who gives himself and his bread feeds three; himself, his hungry neighbor and me."

Mrs. Elmer Maune, president, presided during the business session. Mrs. Leonard Williams, assistant educational chairman, announced the September program with Miss Hazel Gray, speaking on the subject, "The World Council of Churches." Mrs. Richard Gray gave a stewardship message. Mrs. Fred Kueck, missionary chairman, gave a sketch of the life of Albert Schweitzer, missionary serving in Lambberene, Africa, who is now visiting in the United States.

John Crecelius was announced to be altar boy during the month of August by Mrs. Ernest Liebel, altar chairman.

Mrs. Williams, social chairman, reported 52 adults and a number of children were served at a luncheon preceding the meeting.

Other chairmen reporting were: Mrs. Hubert Smith, thank offering; Mrs. Earl Eakin, revision; Mrs. Lottie Meisenheimer, membership; Mrs. R. R. Ramlow, spiritual life,; circle leaders; Mrs. Lloyd Satterwhite; Mrs. Elmo Harlin and Mrs. Orville Perkins.

Mrs. Elmer Maune reported on the mid-week conference of the Women's Guild which she attended July 5-8, at Doane college, Crette, Neb.

The president appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. Roy Lierman, Mrs. Gene Teeter and Mrs. Hubert Smith.

The annual picnic of the Royal Ambassadors of the First Baptist church chapel was held at the Liberty Park, Monday. There were 14 persons attending.

Lions Club to Attend Funeral in a Body

The Sedalia Lions Club will meet at Mc Laughlin Funeral chapel at 2:15 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, to attend the funeral of Judge J. E. Smith, in a body. Judge Smith was one of the charter members of the Sedalia Lions Club.

Stores Make Improvements

A new buff-brick front has been installed at the Sedalia Typewriter company and Buchers', adjoining buildings at 506 and 508 South Ohio avenue.

In addition to the new front, much re-modeling has been done to the two buildings on the inside. A complete new modern cleaning and re-finishing department for office machines has been installed in the basement at the typewriter building.

At Buchers', formerly known as the Orange Bar, new tables, chairs, booths and counter have been installed. By re-modeling the eating establishment has been increased 20 feet longer in space.

Charlies Hofheins is the proprietor of the Sedalia Typewriter company. He leases the building and sub-leases to Chester L. Buchers, who operates Buchers' restaurant.

Ralph Hall has the remodeling contract. Home-Craft Cabinet Works installed the counter and stools at Buchers'.

Mrs. George Fichter Attends State Meeting

The annual meeting of the Missouri Home Economics Extension Club council was held Thursday and Friday of last week at Waters hall, University of Missouri, Columbia.

Mrs. George Fichter, president of the Pettis County council, attended from here and presided at the afternoon session Friday afternoon. Mrs. Fichter also served as chairman of the nominating committee.

Pettis County Teachers Plan Meeting

Being Held Today At Court House; Health a Topic

The Pettis County Teachers Plan meeting held today at the assembly room of the court house was well attended and a constructive program was presented with Mrs. John W. Lewis, president, presiding.

The school health program was discussed and questionnaires which included the definition of health, personal health program, school health program and community health program, were filled out by the teachers. Health is one of the points on the scorecard for better schools. Assisting at the meeting to help Supt. C. F. Scotten and the county chools plan a health program were Louis Payton, of Higginsville, district public health engineer, who is also in charge of sanitation for the State Fair, and Mrs. Ester V. Johnson, R. N., district public health nurse from Higginsville.

Interested in Program

The health program will consist of school immunization the details which will be given later. Mrs. Johnson stated that on a whole she found the health conditions good. Interest in the health program was very high, Mr. Payton said, with teachers taking practically the entire box of literature he had brought to the meetiing.

Mr. Scotten announced that all teachers have been employed for the year. During the meeting the teachers divided into six study groups and selected their projects and activities for the year. Officers in each group will be elected later.

Following the meeting a reception was held at "Dunroven," the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Scotten, 1629 West Eighteenth street.

Oil Cauldron Bubbling Over

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—(AP)—The oil cauldron is bubbling over again. The fires of discontent in the industry are being fed by those who produce oil here and and see their production being cut back and by those who import oil from their rich overseas fields to supply the huge American market for oil and gasoline.

Sometimes the same American companies do both, and that brings the dispute right into the family.

But at least the consumer can take heart. The oilmen are fighting because there is plenty of it ground. All concerned promise that this winter there will be plenty of oil to heat the homes, pull the trains, power the factories and run the family car. It still is not entirely decided, of course, just what you'll pay for that oil. But the world jockeying for the market may play a part.

Court Eviction For Terrier

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9—(AP)—A landlord has a court eviction order for Patty, a 12-year old dog.

Municipal Judge John J. McMahon has ruled Patty must leave her owner's apartment because her hair aggravates the asthma of the landlord's son, also 12.

Another municipal judge earlier had thrown out the eviction case brought by landlord Leo Tarantino, holding the dog had acquired rights of occupancy through long residence.

But Judge McMahon said Patty, part Pomerianian and part Terrier, was a health menace to the child.

Sign Measure To Prevent Racketeering

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A bill to prevent racketeering in Missouri's aid to dependent children program was signed by Gov. Forrest Smith today.

It requires that before a mother can get state aid for her children she must show she has filed desertion or non-support charges against her husband if he is alive.

Sponsors of the measure said during legislative debate there have been numerous cases of a father deserting his family just to get the state money. After the mother gets state financial aid to rear her family, the father sneaks back and helps live up the money, the bill's sponsors said.

Other Bills

The governor also signed four other bills today. They will:

Increase the salaries of employes of the general assembly from $5 to $7 a day.

Simplify the method of paying blind pensions.

Set up a so-called uniform partnership act, along the lines of laws already enacted in some 29 other states.

Increase the salary of the St. Louis collector from $8,000 to $10,000 a year. His employes also would get raises, with the chief deputy being boosted from $5,300 to $6,000 a year.

C. of C. Asks For Suggestions

Questionnaires on "suggestions for "bigger and better Sedalia" have been mailed to 30 civic, fraternal, cultural and social organizations for members to fill out and return to the Chamber of Commerce. Everyone receiving a questionnaire is asked to list at least three projects they believe should be undertaken by Sedalia next year and to give any suggestions they may have for the betterment of the city.

Any citizen not receiving a questionnaire form any organization, who is interested in building Sedalia, may obtain a questionnaire from the Chamber of Commerce office, 114 West Fourth street, or write a letter to the Charmber of Commerce giving their suggestions for improvement of the city.

'Nonsene,' Says Judge Douglas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the supreme court today dismissed as "pure nonsense" Russian charges that he had been spying on them.

Douglas, who aroused Soviet suspicions when he and his son, Bill, 17, went mountain climbing in the Middle East, talked with reporters after calling on President Truman. He said with a laugh that his seven-week journey abroad was "purely a pleasure trip."

The justice and his son visited the front in Greece and brought back a picture of Greek guerrilla forces captured by the government. He said about 35 per cent of the guerilla fighters are women.

He gave Mr. Truman a picture showing him with a pack mule which he said was "undoubtedly from Missouri."

Judgment Given, Then Plaintiff Dismisses

The replevin suit of Robert Williams, Thirtieth street and Ingram avenue, against Bernice Williams, his estranged wife, for furniture was dismissed in Magistrate court this morning by the defendant who was awarded a judgment against the plaintiff.

The case was tried several days ago before acting magistrate Earl Crawford, who after hearing evidence took the matter under advisement. Later he gave judgment to the defendant. This morning before Magistrate W. M. Ilgenfritz, Mrs. Williams stated she wanted to dismiss the case.

L. J. Harned represented the defendant and Frank Armstrong the plaintiff.

Pettis Countians Study Plan Of Medical Care to Indigents

A group of Pettis countians including representatives from the county court, the Welfare Board and the county Medical Society, have returned from a trip to Topeka, Kas., where they went to investigate a plan in operation there which services the medical need of the indigents of Shanwee county.

The plan in Topeka was the original county system and has been patterned after by counties all over the United States because it has proved a satisfactory arrangement to all concerned.

A contract between the county, the welfare society and the county Medical Society provides a system in which money is set aside for the care of each indigent on the welfare rolls, at present the amount is $5.00 a month for each case, and from that a schedule has been set up where medical attention is given through the operation of a clinic. The money also pays for necessary hospitalization, and takes care of house and office calls, as well. The indigents are encouraged to attend the clinic, however, as doctors are paid a certain sum for their services at the clinic.

The patient has the choice of a physician provided said physician is listed among those members of the Medical Society who participates in the plan. The docotors in Shanwee county are participating 100 percent because they believe it to be better than the county or city physician system. It costs less money, it lifts the load of the indigent patients and gives the patients better medical care.

Also operating in connection with the county health department which is class 1, public unit, the highest rate according to the United States Public Health. A full time public health officer is employed to operate the clinic and for consulting on pest control, inspection of meats and sanitary conditions and veterinarian work, which is part of the city and county health unit services.

Home Nursing Also

The home nursing service, which also comes under the clinic provides nursing care in homes or gives training in homes where some knowledge of nursing care is needed.

The purpose of the visit of the Pettis county group was to study the plan and obtain ideas in event that such a system should be considered in this county.

Smoke Filled Crowded Cars

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—(AP)—Shouting and screaming subway passengers today pushed and shoved their way from the smoke filled cars of an independent system train. Six were taken to hospitals suffering from smoke.

Thousands of persons gathered near the station at 42d street and Eighth avenue — a block from Times Square — as the passengers of the eight-car train boiled up through exits from the smoke-filled station underground.

Police said a loose metal plate dragging from a northbound train caused short circuits, exploding the electrical circuit under each car.

There were blinding flashes and then odorous smoke seeped into the darkened, crowded cars. There was no fire police said.

Normal service was restored in about 15 minutes.

Termite-Riddled Pole Snaps, Man is Killed

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A termite-riddled power line pole snapped off at the ground and fell yesterday, killing Woody Dahmer, 24, Independence, Mo., who was working at the top of the pole.

Cigarettes Plentiful In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 9—(AP)—A sign of prosperity in Germany: The German railroad is doubling the number of smoking compartments on its trains.

The reason: Cigarettes, once so scarce and expensive they were the backbone of the blackmarket, are now so plentiful and cheap that more people can afford to smoke them.

A pack of cigarettes which once was valued at ten dollars, now brings the equivalent of 75 cents.

'Family Fuss,' No Charges

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—An Alabama farmer was released without charge after he told police he kidnaped his 11-year-old niece here yesterday.

Ivan G. Cannon, 27, of Sumiton, Ala., said he took Betty Jo Holmes from the home of her father, Bill Holmes, 33, and put her on a bus for Alabama.

Holmes' first wife died at the child's birth, and the girl was left with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Cannon, at Sumiton, Cannon said.

At Holmes' request a month ago, the girl came to Springfield to visit him for two weeks. When Betty Jo didn't return after three weeks, Cannon came here after her. He said she told him she wanted to go back to Alabama.

Prosecutor Wayne Collinson said it was a "family fuss" which would have to be settled in Alabama.

Policemen Now 'Delivery Boys'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—You might just label Police Sgt. James Loethen and Patrolman Roy Hogg the "delivery boys."

Sunday they officiated at the birth of a baby here, the third such emergency experience for Leothen and the second for Hogg in the past year.

Parents of the young mother tried vainly to find a physician yesterday, they explained. In desperation, they called police and asked specifically for Leothen and Hogg.

That was because the pair delivered a baby just a week ago and got their names in the paper.

Rutledge After Sentencing

Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr. (left), of St. Louis, leaves the court room at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, after being sentenced to 70 years in prison. He was convicted May 28 of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of Byron C. Hattman, also of St. Louis, in a hotel room at Cedar Rapids last December. The defense contended that Hattman had pursued and seduced Dr. Rutledge's wife, Sydney, 22. Escorting Rutledge from the court room are Sheriff Jim Smith (center) and Deputy Sheriff Harlan Snyder. Mrs. Rutledge Leaves Court

Under the watchful eye of an unidentified woman spectator and child, Mrs. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., 22, walks from a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, court room after hearing her husband sentenced to 70 years in prison. Dr. Rutledge, 28, was convicted of second degree murder in the hotel room stabbing of Byron C. Hattman at Cedar Rapids last December. During the trial at Cedar Rapids, the defense contended that Hattman had pursued and seduced Mrs. Rutledge. The prosecution contended that Rutledge followed Hattman from St. Louis, where the Rutledges and Hattman lived, to Cedar Rapids with the intent to kill Hattman. (AP WIREPHOTO)

To Vermont With Goats And All

WESTFIELD, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—It was too hot in Arkansas for Arthur's health, so the lady with the goats is trekking back to Vermont.

And she isn't traveling light. Besides herself, Mrs. Arthur Lamear, that is, there are 12 goats, two horses, a colt, 25 chickens, tow dogs and a wagon filled with household goods.

That's one colt and 25 chickens more than she had when she left Bethel, Vt., for Mt. Hope, Ark., Jan. 25, 1948.

"Art couldn't stand the wagon trip," the 54-year-old latter day pioneer said Monday. "He went ahead by train."

Mrs. Lamear and her entourage left Arkansas July 5. She and her husband hope to reestablish themselves in Bethel. They sold the goat farm they bought when they went to Mt. Hope.

On the outbound trip, which Arthur also by-passed due to his health, Mrs. Lamear got as far as Batavia before publicity finally caught up with her. An audience participation radio show (Heart's Desire), with the cooperation of a Batavia radio station (WBTA), took up the burden and arranged for truck transportation.

Mrs. Lamear says, hopefully, she'll reach Batavia on this trip tomorrow or Wednesday.

The Lamears left Vermont originally because the cold climate interferred with Arthur's full recovery from an auto accident.

No Sign of Peace

HONOLULU, Aug. 9—(AP)—An imminent threat of government dock seizure brought no sign of early peace today in Hawaii's 100-day waterfront strike.

Backed by a new territorial law to put the government in the stevedoring business, Gov. Ingram M. Stainback ordered the islands' 2,000 striking longshoremen and seven struck firms to resume work immediately.

Mangrum Leads Field By 4 Strokes

All-American Golf Prize is Worth $3,333

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Lloyd Mangrum went after the $3,333 top Tam O'Shanter all-American golf prize today with a 4-stroke lead over the field.

Mangrum blazed through the humid 95 degree heat and some 3,000 followers for a 37-33—70 third round yesterday and a three quarters mark of 204, 12 strokes under par.

Sam Snead, the year's leading money winner with $23,560, faded to a two-over-par 74 for a total 209 after being only one stroke behind Mangrum at the halfway mark.

Running Close Behind

Behind Mangrum were big Clayt Heafner with a 69, Bill Nary of Los Angeles with 67, and Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, former national collegiate champion, who fashioned 69. All had a three-round tally of 208.

Tied with Snead at 209 were Johnny Palmer with a third round 67, and Herman Barron, 1946 Tam champion, with a par 72.

Colorful Jimmy Demaret pulled up with 210, while 9 were tied at 211. They included Henry Ransom, Herman Keiser, Jim Ferrier, Porky Oliver, Johnny Bulla, Pete Cooper, Toney Penna, Harry Todd and Jerry Barber.

In the all-American women's open field, Louise Suggs, the 115-pound pro from Carrollton, Ga., had a five stroke lead with a 54-hole 227. She added a one-over-par 77 yesterday. Babe Zaharias, the defending champion, made her bid with a 74 but landed in the 232 bracket with another pro, Betty Jameson, who shot a third round 81.

Many Fillies Are to be Raced

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—The gents may have to take their hats off to the ladies in the 24th Hambletonian stake here tomorrow, for exactly half of the expected 18 starters are fillies.

And don't think the trotting gals haven't had a lot to say about harness racing's blue ribbon classic in the past. Seven of the weaker sex have grabbed the event since it was started in 1926. Only one filly, Regret, has won the Kentucky Derby in 75 runnings.

While most of the attention in the filly ranks has gone to Martha Doyle and Miss Tilly, a late comer had the folks around Good Time park taking second looks today.

She is Rosamond, a chestnut beauty owned by Gib White of Lexington, Ky.

Bangaway still rules the choice of most observers hereabouts. The Toledo, Ohio, colt owned by C. M. Saunders is reported in top form for the event, which will gross $68,500 if all 18 start.

Considerable support will go to Martha Doyle, roan filly owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kas. Derby sent out Yankee Maid, last fill to cop the Hambletonian in 1944.

Martha Doyle won the coaching club trotting oaks at Goshen's historic track last month, beating Miss Tilly. Her time of 2:05 equalled the world record for trotting fillies on a half-mile track.

Toppers Will Play Sweet Springs Tonight

For their first engagement, the Sedalia Toppers and the Sweet Springs nine will clash in a softball meet tonight at 7:00 o'clock at Sweet Springs.

This should be a very evenly matched game because Sweet Springs is just a shade under Emma in power, and Emma always manages to edge a victory over Sedalia.

Sedalia's ace girl pitcher, Miss Mary Ellen Merrill will be on the hill, with Sue Sole, doing the catching duties.

The Toppers have a season record of seven wins against three losses. Wednesday night, the local team will attempt to even the count when they meet Houstonia there.

The girls will leave from Smith-Cotton to journey to Sweet Springs at 6:00 p. m.

Eagles And All-Stars Play Footbal Friday

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson's college All-Stars were reported clicking with his Oklahoma style split T offense today as they headed for a secret practice tonight at Soldier Field.

Meanwhile at Grand Rapids, Minn., the Philadelphia Eagles, who will meet the All-Stars Friday night at Soldier Field, planned a light workout tonight, one tomorrow and then a warmup Thursday night at the Chicago field.

Wilkinson was reported pleased with the way several backs have been using his offense style. All expected to play Friday. They are Norm Van Brocklin, Harper Davis, George Guerre, Joe Geri, George Taliaferro, Frank Tripucke and Jack Mitchell.

Junior Legion To Play Bolivar

The Sedalia Junior Legion Post 16 team will play host to the Bolivar Legion team in an exhibition game tonight at Liberty park, with game time slated for 8:15 o' clock.

The Sedalia aggregation, zone champions, will be gunning for their third straight victory since returning from the zone and state tournaments. They have defeated two "3 and 2" league teams of Kansas City — the Liasa Hansan team, 5 to 4 in a thrilling 10-inning affair, and the Sid Street Motors team 11 to 7, the later game being played Sunday.

Either Bill Brown or Bob Ray will be on the hill tonight for Sedalia, with Leon Nold to do the catching chores. The rest of the probable starting lineup is as follows: Ruffin center field, Morgan third base, Walker, shortstop; Holst, left field; McCrary, right field, Broaddus first base, and Shawver second base.

Palmer Nichols and John Thomas will do the umpiring for tonight's contest.

K.C. Blues Drop To 7th Place

By the Associated Press

The Columbus Redbirds broke a six game losing streak last night and today are tied with Minneapolis for fifth place in the American Association.

St. Paul, the league leader, and Indianapolis, two games behind in second place, maintained the pace by winning again.

Cotton Deal won his 10th game of the season as Columbus beat Milwaukee and Brewer pitcher Al Epperly 1-0. Mel McGaha drove home the run with a single.

St. Paul beat the Toledo Mud Hens 7-4. Ferrel Anderson doubled with the bases loaded in the fifth for the Saints.

Indianapolis beat Minneapolis 5-2 with the help of Jack Cassini's homer with one aboard and Ted Beard's two run single.

Louisville tightened its grip on fourth place by whipping Kansas City 8-1 and 4-1. The Blues dropped to seventh place.

Slaughter is Living Proof That Experts Are Wrong

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Enos (Country) Slaughter, the St. Louis Cardinals' "ball player's ball player," is a living proof that baseball experts are a funny race.

In pre-season polls, the majority of scribes ignored St. Louis as a pennant threat because the Cards "were too old." Thus, without saying so, they pointed the finger at Slaughter, who at 33, was the oldest regular on the club.

Today, these same experts predict that the Cards will win the National League flag. Why? Because of the presence of this same Enos Slaughter.

He's missed only games although at various stages of the race, he's been plagued by a bad back, sore legs, a stiff neck, a bruised thigh and a slight shoulder separation.

Slaughter's current batting average of .331 is exceeded only by Jackie Robinson's .364.

Enos Enjoyed a Big Night

Enos enjoyed one of his biggest "days" last night when he walloped two home runs and drove in six runs to lead the Cards to a 9-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Redbirds needed the triumph to maintain their first palce tie with Brooklyn, as the Dodgers already had nipped the New York Giants, 2-1. The two contenders started the evening's activities deadlocked for the lead. Those were the only games played in the majors.

Slaughter's one-man forsay enabled Howie Pollet to register his 15th victory although he was touched up for a dozen hits. The cards could get only five safeties off loser Kent Peterson and three successors, but took advantage of seven bases on balls.

Four straight walks in the forced in a Cardinal run across and left the bases loaded. Country promptly unloaded them with his second four-bagger of the game and 10th of the season. Slaughter hit his first homer in the third with Nippy Jones aboard.

Newcombe Hurled Good Game

Big Don Newcombe pitched one of his best games of the year in subduing the Giants with a three-hit shutout until the ninth when Whitey Lockman sent his first serve over the right field screen to spoil the shutout-bid.

Jackie Robinson was the big gun for the Dodgers. He slashed his 13th homer in the second and set the stage for the winning run in the eight with a single that sent Carl Furillo to third. With the bases loaded and two out, loser Dave Koslo walked pinch hitter Bruce Edwards to force Furillo over the plate.

Declares War on 'Five Percenters'

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson tells the Senate investigating committee at a Washington hearing that he has vowed to break the power of "five percenters" — agents who use influence with government officials to secure contracts for clients. (AP Wirephoto)

Unmask The K. K. K. In Georgia

ATLANTA, Aug. 9—(AP)—Georgia's Ku Klux Klan was unmasked Monday by the "imperial edict" of its wizard after South Georgians had gone gunning for robed night riders.

Wizard Samuel Green said henceforth members of his association of Georgia Klans would junk their hoods to keep the Klan from being blamed for the acts of others.

Green's order followed a shooting scrape in Iron City, Ga., in which the town's mayor, C. L. Drake, and a group of friends swapped shots with a motorcade of robed Klansmen.

The "Imperial Wizard" said his organization was not involved in the affair and blamed the incident on a "Bolshevik" group operating out of Columbus.

Meanwhile, Mayor Drake and Klansmen found themselves involved in charges and countercharges.

The Klansmen left Iron City after midnight Saturday, pursued by flying lead—and subsequently, by the mayor.

Mayor Drake raced 38 miles to Dothan, Ala., sometimes at a speed of 100 miles per hour, after a Klan official.

In Dothan he had the man, booked as Bill Hendrix of Tallahassee, Fla., arrested on a warrant charging assault with intent to murder. Hendrix later was released under a $500 bond.

The mayor returned to his home town and there was subjected to a warrant charging attempted murder.

The warrant was taken out by James Beard, who identified himself as the Iron City Klavern's Cyclops.

In 1940 James Colescott, then Klan chieftain, ordered all masks and visors destroyed.

Child Killed in Fall From Building

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Eleven-year-old Truman Edward Parmelee was killed here Sunday when he fell 120 feet from the roof of an apartment building.

A playmate, Edward Floweree, 10, told police he and Truman had climbed an inside fire escape to the roof of the 10-story building "just to mess around." They did not live in the apartment building.

The victim was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Parmelee.

Off For a Ride

Shiny, the pet crow of Robert Erb, 13-year-old DeWitt, N. Y. youth, gets a toe hold and grabs a strand of hair as he takes a ride atop the boy's head. Robert found Shiny in the woods and raised him on dry cereals, milk and water. Shiny now ignores worms, roosts outdoors at night, but spends daytimes with his master, Robert says. (AP Wirephoto)

Saves Life Of Boy Buried In Sand

CHOCTAW, Okla., Aug. 9—(AP)—A Choctaw farmer dug through three feet of sand in five minutes Monday to save from death a 15-year-old boy buried in a landslide.

The farmer was Herbert Baade who was near the scene of the slide when Billy Joe Lawson was covered.

Billy, his brother, Andrew, 14, and Paul, 12, and a sister, Bonnie Lee, 11, were playing around the 12-foot bank of dirt. It had been dug from the side of the road.

The bank gave way suddenly and Billy was trapped in an upright position under three feet of sand.

His brothers and sister began yelling for help and Baade, who was driving a tractor, rushed to the scene. He grabbed one of the shovels the children had been playing with and dug furiously until he uncoverfed Billy.

Bonnie Lee's feet were covered with sand, but she was freed quickly.

Billy was taken to an Oklahoma City hospital. Doctors said he suffered no serious injury.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lawson, farmers who live near Choctaw.

Accuse Truman of Fanning War Hysteria

MOSCOW, Aug. 9—(AP)—Pravda accused Pres. Truman Monday of fanning war hysteria and poisoning the international atmosphere.

The attack, written by Commentator M. Marinin, occupied almost a full page in the Communist party newspaper.

"History teaches us ruin is the inevitable fate of every policy based on risk-taking," Marinin wrote. "Such failure also awaits the policy of President Truman and his friends.

"The warmongers continue to rush about, for they feel time is against them. The powerful camp of peace goes forward to meet tomorrow, confident of its strength in its truth and in the deep reality of its purposes."

Child Cured of Strange Illness

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)—The seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Glenn, Jr., was pronounced cured Monday of a strange iliness that prompted her parents to race her here from Salina, Kas.

Much of the 450-mile automobile trip was under police escort at a speed of 80 miles an hour.

Physicians said the girl, Frances, will leave Lutheran hosptial today.

The child was stricken near Salina Saturday while the family was en route from Vallejo, Calif., to St. Louis. Penicillin was administered at a Salina hospital. The Glenns arrived here less than eight hours later.

PAYS FOR POLIO

New Policy Pays Maximum of $5,000.00 Toward Care and Treatment

COSTS LESS THAN 1 CENT A DAY!

This new Postal Polio Policy COSTS LESS THAN 1 CENT A DAY—yet it pays a maximum of $5,000.00 toward the care and treatment of polio (infantile paralysis), as authorized by the attending physician.

The policy will pay, when needed, $5,000.00 toward these expenses: Hospital bills, including room, meals, drugs, serums, medicines and other services, doctor bills; treatments; physiotherapy; use of iron lung; ambulance (maxium $50.00); nurses (maximum $12.00 a day); orthopedic appliances (maximum $500.00); a round trip to another locality for special treatment.

Insurance goes into effect immediately! Written for any age—babies, children, adults provided polio is not present in the home. Pays regardless of what other insurance you have. NO TIME LIMIT on period over which benefits are paid!

The cost is less than 1 cent a day—only $3.00 for a full year's protection—for each person.

Just send us the name, age and relationship of each child and adult to be insuresd — sign your own name and address—enclose $3.00 for each person to be insured.

We will refund your money in full if you notify us within 10 days that you are not satisfied with the policy.

DO NOT DELAY! Address Postal Life & Casualty Insurance Company, Dept 2259, 3934 Broadway, Kansas City 2, Mo.

Traffic Cases

In police court, this morning, one speeder and 19 overtime parkers forfeited cash bonds for failing to appear before Judge Harry O. Berry. One stop sign violator pleaded guilty and was fined.

George Coops, Kansas City, forfeited a $10 cash bond on a speeding charge.

A. C. Mayfield, 1101 West Third street, pleaded guilty to running a stop sign at Third street and Missouri avenue, and was fined $5.00.

Eleven overtime parkers forfeited bonds of one-dollar each.

'Knights of The Road' Injured

Two "Knights of the Road," early today, in getting off of a fast moving frieght train of the Missouri Pacific railroad, lost solid footing and were rolled along the right-of-way in the railroad yards. One received severe injuries, the other, bruises.

This morning in police court both became guests of the City for 30 days after pleading guilty to trespassing on Missouri Pacific property. They were sentenced by Judge Harry O. Berry.

Ernest R. Jones, who gave his home as West Plains, Mo., suffered a fracture of the right arm between the wrist and elbow, a mangled little finger on the left hand, and minor abrasions about the body, a discolored left eye, and possible injury to ribs on the right side.

The second man is Carl Moody, Dallas, Ga., who was treated for minor brusise.

Both men were taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. C. B. Trader, physician for the Missouri Pacific gave them attention They were later released and taken to the city jail.

Bequest to Hospital

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A bequest of $100,000 to Mercy hospital here has been revealed in the will of the Baylis Thornton Gordon, Liberty, Mo., lawyer who died Wednesday at the age of 64.

He was crippled by tuberculosis of the hip when he was four years old, and throughout his career as a state legislator and senator he championed laws to help crippled children.

Divorce Petitions Filed

A divorce petition was filed in circuit court today by Nellie Mae Asher against John Asher in which general indignities were alleged. The couple was married in October 1946 and separated in August 1949.

The plaintiff asks custody of their minor child.

William F. Brown is the attorney for the plaintiff.

W. E. Cason filed suit for divorce today against Carrie Cason, in which general indignities were alleged. They were married September 14, 1946 and separated in June 1949.

Crawford and Harlan are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

After Mid-Air Collision

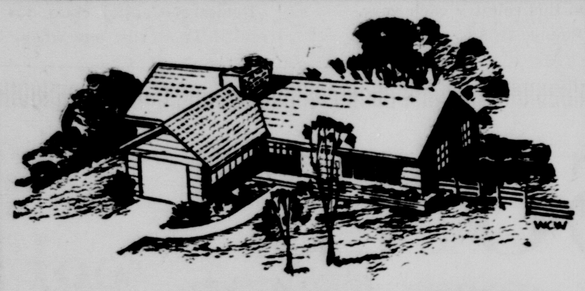

This DC-3 Capital airliner, damaged in a mid-air crash with a small plane over Milwaukee, Wis., flew on for six miles after the accident to land safely at Milwaukee County airport. None of the 20 passengers aboard were killed. The pilot of the small plane, Arthur Rapps, 32, was killed when his craft crashed following the collision, which tore off a six-foot section of the airliner's right wing. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Search For Fissionable Material

Donald F. Reed, U. S. Bureau of Mines engineer, tests core samples with a Geiger counter as he searches through diamond drill cores and churn drill cutting samples at Rolla, Mo., in a search for fissionable materials. Leon Dupuy, chief of the Rolla branch of the Bureau of Mines, said some of the samples studied are appreciably radioactive. Although they do not represent a deposit of present commercial interest, he said, they may be of considerable future value. (AP PHOTO)

'City of Culture':

Atom Basted Nagasaki Adopts Name After Losing Fight to Call Itself 'City of Peace'

CITY OF CULTURE: Nagasaki is happy with the name, although the city planning director says there are too many plans and ideas for culture. He'd like to see more "reconstruction, rahabilitation and reconversion."

By RICHARD C. FERGUSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

NAGASAKI, Japan — (NEA)— By an overwhelming majority of its voters, this atom-bomb-blasted city has become the "International City of Culture." It celebrates its new status with a three-day cultural festival to mark the fourth anniversary of the bombing.

The vote climaxed a four-year feud between Nagasaki, the second Japanese metropolis to feel the A-bomb's might, and Hiroshima, the first. Both cities wanted recognition as the "City of Peace." The dispute went to the Diet, and the legislators worked out a compromise. Hiroshima won the "Peace" title, and Nagasaki was given the "Culture" crown as a consolation prize.

After the citizens of Nagasaki approved the arrangement, with even the Communists joining in to support it, Mayor Hiroshi Ohashi announced that he felt the alternate title more fitting.

"I now think it is much more appropriate for Nagasaki to be called a 'City of Culture' because western civilization was first introduced here," he said, adding "Hiroshima has been a military city for decades and is not steeped with culture."

Plans for the city's future, to keep in step with the cultural motif, are not complete. But among the first suggestions was one calling for the erection of an international hospital to replace the Nagasaki University Hospital, which was destroyed by the bomb. Another possibility is a huge auditorium and library to hold international meetings.

But, says City Planning Director Morizo Shinohara, "We have too many plans and ideas. Everything depends on the condition of the national treasury. I am interested in making Nagasaki a 'City of Culture,' but I think we should devote our efforts to reconstruction, rehabilitation and reconversion at the present time."

Shinohara, a 36-year-old former bank official, pointed out that the once-prosperous city was now seeing dark days. Unemployment is growing, reconversion has been proceeding very slowly and "the city's economy has suffered severely."

While Hiroshima is teeming with researchers, studying the effects of atomic radiation on the people and the city, there is apparently only one such project underway in the "City of Culture."

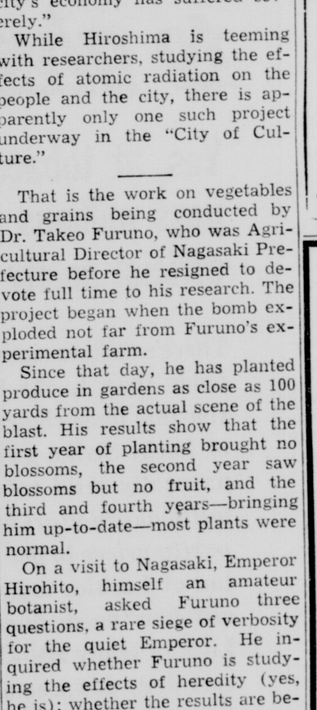

That is the work on vegetables and grains being conducted by Dr. Takeo Furuno, who was Agricultural Director of Nagasaki Prefecture before he resigned to devote full time to his research. The project began when the bomb exploded not far from Furuno's experimental farm.

Since that day, he has planted produce in gardens as close as 100 yards from the actual scene of the blast. His results show that the first year of planting brought no blossoms, the second year saw blossoms but no fruit, and the third and fourth years—bringing him up-to-date—most plants were normal.

On a visit to Nagasaki, Emperor Hirohito, himself an amateur botanist, asked Furuno three questions, a rare siege of verbosity for the quiet Emperor. He inquired whether Furuno is studying the effects of heredity (yes, he is); whether the results are being compared with Hiroshima (no, because no similar experiments are being conducted there); and did Furuno think the sterility of plants was due to food going into foilage instead of fruit (maybe so).

After four years of planting fruits, vegetables and grains, and comparing them with previous yields on the same land, Furuno has concluded that the crops now are better.

"I firmly believe," he says "that radioactivity from an atomic bomb hastens the growth and increases the yield of most vegetables."

FURUNO:" Radioactivity from an atomic bomb hastens the growth and increases the yield of most vegetables."

Patrol Bill is Among Those Signed by Gov.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A bill authorizing an additional administrative officer for the Missouri Highway Patrol, with the rank of major, was signed by Gov. Forrest Smith late Saturday.

The new law becomes effective October 14.

Under its provisions, patrol superintendent David E. Harrison must appoint from present patrol ranks a man to take over active control of the state police force when Col. Harrison is away from his deck. The major will receive $4,800 a year.

Under another bill signed earlier, the number of uniformed patrol officers and troopers is raised from 229 to 260 and all men receive a raise in pay. It, too, becomes effective Oct. 14.

The governor also signed three other bills into law late Saturday. He said today. They provide:

Other Bills

An increase from $10,000 to $12,000 a year for the probate judges in St. Louis and Jackson county.

A broadening of the powers of REA Electric Cooperatives so they may continue to serve an area which increases in population or is annexed into a municipality.

A definite semi-annual call for the financial conditions of state banks and trust companies. In the past the state finance commissioner generally has issued three bank calls a year, usually coinciding with similar calls for national banking institutions.

Balloting On By Ford Workers

DETROIT, Aug. 9—(AP)— More than 30,000 Ford workers cast ballots Monday on whether they approve a second strike this year in Michigan plants of the auto firm.

Balloting will continue through Wednesday with 50,000 more voters eligible to vote. Polling places were jammed on the first day of the election. No incidents were reported.

Both the company and the CIO United Auto Workers union claimed an advantage from the heavy vote.

The State Labor Mediation Board reported 28,347 votes today at the big Rouge plant and 2,700 at the Mound road plant.

Noel P. Fox, state board chairman, said the balloting was proceeding smoothly.

Choice For Appeals Court

Governor Smith To Appoint Judge James W. Broaddus

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Gov Forrest Smith said Monday he would appoint Judge James W. Broaddus to the Kansas City Court of Appeals.

Broaddus is a Jackson county (Kansas City) circuit judge.

Broaddus will succeed the late Judge Ewing C. Bland who died two months ago. He will serve until the 1950 general election when he must run on the record he has made by that time.

Judge Broaddus, 59, was appointed to the circuit bench in 1945 by former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, Smith's predecessor. In 1946, he was elected to a six year term on the circuit bench.

The governor said he did not make the appointment today because Broaddus said he had two or three cases he wanted to wind up before resigning from the circuit bench. Smith said the judge estimated he could clean up that work within a week.

In making the choice, Governor Smith had to name one of three men nominated by the Appellate Judicial Commission. They were Judge Broaddus, Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair of Jefferson City and Waldo Edwards, Macon attorney. Only Edwards is a Republican.

That, observers said, left the Democratic governor's choice between Blair and Broaddus.

Given Strong Support

Kansas City friends of Judge Broaddus put on a huge campaign in his favor.

Smith said he received 316 letters and telegrams urging appointment of Broaddus. The theme of the arguments for the Kansas City Circuit Judge, Smith said, was that Broaddus would keep the balance of representation on the Court of Appeals.

If either Judge Blair or Edwards were appointed, they said, the outstate section of the appeals district would have the balance of power on the three-judge court.

"All three of the names handed me are those of outstanding men," Smith told his press conference. "That made it a little hard to decide on one."

Under the non-partisan court plan—by which the three nominees were supplied for Smith to choose from—the governor later on will choose a Circuit Court successor to Broaddus.

A five-member Circuit Judicial Commission will nominate three men from among whom the governor will have to choose one to become circuit judge.

Medium Found Strangled

BALTIMORE, Aug. 9—(AP)— A 60-year-old widow, who began giving seances and gazing into crystal balls after her husband's death, was found trussed and strangled with an electric cord in her apartment Monday night.

Police said she had been murdered.

She was Mrs. Emma A. Kefalos, who for many years operated a restaurant in east Baltimore's Polish-Bohemian section. Four years ago, she closed up the restaurant and became a medium.

A neighbor found her body.

Her hands and feet had been bound with clothesline. An ironing cord was wrapped tightly about her throat. The body was found lying face down on the living room floor, not far from a crystal ball and a cupboard containing several hundred bottles of what police termed a "love potion."

The whole second floor apartment had been ransacked. Clothes and other belongings of the widow were strewn on the floor.

Police listed robbery as a possible motive until they found $68 in an open dresser drawer and four valuable diamond rings and a sapphire ring in a kitchen tool box.

After the later discoveries, investigators said they were at a loss for a motive in the slaying.

Neighbors described Mrs. Kefalos as a friendly sort of person who used to visit them frequently.

Other Baltimore mediums offered their services to police. They said they would attempt to "get through" to Mrs. Kefalos and try to learn from her shade who killed her.

One, Mrs. Barbara Burns, said she believed Mrs. Kefalos would communicate from the spirit world to the material world, but that it "may take a little time."

Amendment By Kem Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—By a 50-21 roll call vote the Senate Monday decided to rule out of Marshall plan money bill an amendment by Senator Kem (R-Mo) which would have withheld funds from Great Britain unless she stopped nationalization of her industries.

Here is the vote of senators from Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas:

For the ruling—Fulbright (D-Ark), Kerr (D-Okla), Donnell (R-Mo).

Against the ruling—McClellan (D-Ark), Thomas (D-Okla), Kem (R-Mo), Schoeppel (R-Kas).

Action on Social Security

House Committee Votes to Increase Payroll Tax; Add to Persons Benefitted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The house ways and means committee agreed today to increase the social security payroll tax from $1,800,000,000 a year to $2,700,000,000 next year and to about $3,600,000,000 in 1951.

The committee also called for further increases in the taxes in 1960, 1965, and 1970, with rate reaching 3¼ percent as compared with the present one per cent against employer and employee.

The committee at the same time voted to increase by about 70 percent the old age and survivors benefits of persons already drawing such benefits. This is calculated as a "cost of living" increase.

These moves, all subject to house and senate approval, followed yesterday's committee approval of other sections of the social security expansion legislation that would add 11,000,000 workers to the 35,000,000 already covered by old age insurance.

An Important Decision

The committee's action came in the face of virtual abandnment by Democratic leaders of any hope for final congressional action this year on social security expansion.

The committee, in its most important social security action in a decade, decided also to boost old age insurance benefits by 50 to 150 per cent in some categories, and to increase the payroll taxes to finance the expanded program.

Under the legislation, confirming presently scheduled increases, the payroll taxes will jump from $1,800,000,000 to about $2,700,000,000 in 1950.

No Senate Action Soon

But one top Democrat told reporters there is little, if any, hope that the legislation will be passed by the senate before 1950 although a drive will be launched to press it through the house this year.

The senate legislative log jam prevents action there, he said.

Regardless of whether congress acts, the tax will increase from the present one per cent to -½ per cent against employes' pay and employers' payrolls on January 1.

The new legislation would bring in only a little over one-half of the 20,000,000 new workers president Truman asked congress to insure. But it would raise the total number covered from 35,000,000 to about 46,000,000 and give the presiden a large part of the other expansion features he requested.

Groups Left Out

Among large economic groups still left out of old age insurance, under the bill, are about 5,000,000 farm operators and 3,500,000 farm workers. Those covered, if the house and senate agree with the committee, would be:

4,500,000 self-employed persons other than farmers, doctors and lawyers.

600,000 employes of no-profit institutions other than ministers.

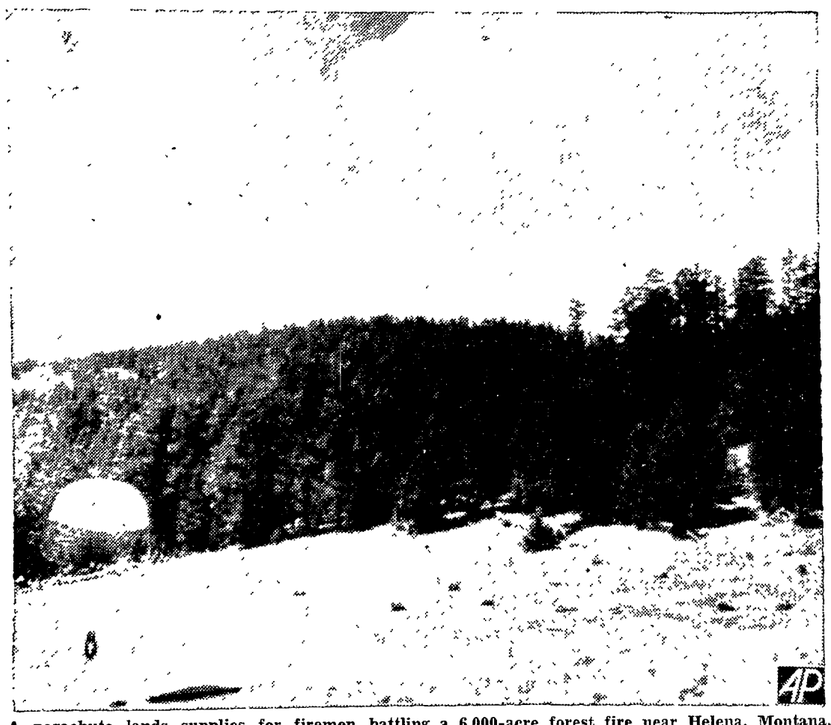

750,000 domestic servants not in a farm home, when regularly employed.

4,000,000 state and local government employes, if these governing bodies approve.

100,000 federal employes not now under a retirement program.

500,000 in miscellaneous groups.

School Board Receives Four Resignations

J. T. Alexander, Music Director, Going to Illinois

The resignation of J. T. Alexander, director of music in the Sedalia public schools, was accepted by the board of education, at a meeting held Monday night in the office of the school superintendent, Heber U. Hunt.

Mr. Alexander has accepted a position as director of music in the township high school and junior college at Centralia, Ill., at a salary considerably larger than he received here.

Mr. Alexander came to Sedalia in 1935 and was here with the Sedalia public schools until 1941, when he accepted a position as music director at Kemper Military academy, Boonville. While there he entered military service and spent 30 months in the army.

Returned in 1946

He returned to Sedalia in 1946 as director of music in the public schools. During his residence here he has taken an active part in civic affairs, given of his time and talents to public musical events, and has been a part of the social life of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, who reside at 1816 West Broadway, are leaving within the near future for Centralia.

Other Resignations

Other resignations accepted were those of Mrs. David Routszong, who had been employed to teach at Whittier school; Mrs. George H. Miller, who taught two classes of art in Smith-Cotton high school and Miss Audrey Cramer, secretary at Washington school.

Elected to teach were Miss Dorothy Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dean, who will be assigned to one of the elementary schools, Miss Marilyn Williams, as secretary at Washington school and Mrs. H. B. Bamburg, as a primary teacher. Mrs. Bamburg, whose husband is an attorney, is a newcomer in Sedalia.

The vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Miller will not be fulfilled, and no art will be taught at Smith-Cotton.

Coal bids had been advertised for. Two were received and both rejected. Smith-Cotton has been equipped with aparatus for gas heating and the coal needed is for stokers in the other schools.

C. of C. Board Meets Wednesday

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board members will be held at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, August 17. in the office of the Sedalia Bank and Trust company.

To Inspect For Testing Field

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)— A sprawling ordnance plant near Pryro, Okla., will be inspected sometime next week as a possible site for a U. S. air force supersonic testing ground.

This announcement was made here today by M. S. Lundquist, secretary of the Pryor Chamber of Commerce, after a meeting with a private St. Louis firm of consulting engineers.

The engineers (Sverdrup & Parcel, Inc.) have been designated by the air force to conduct the inspection. They will be accompanied by engineers from Wright Field, O.

Lundquist said actual date of the inspection will be announced by officials at Wright field.

"I don't know how many sites the air force is investigating, but we in Oklahoma feel we have the most suitable spot," Lundquist said.

Act to Remedy Condition of Park Lagoon

The slimy substance in the lagoon at Liberty Park is not conducive to any disease, according to an official of the State Health Department of Jefferson City, who made this report to one of the Liberty Park members in a telephone conversation Monday.

The park board is making every effort to correct the condition in the lagoon, and in the next day or two, chemicals will be distributed over the water by boat. It is the hope of the park board that fish will not be killed in the attempt to clean out the slime.

The Sedalia fire department has aerated the lagoon three different times. By spraying water over the lake with five streams of water going at one time, oxygen was retained in the lagoon to prevent fish from coming to the surface and dying. However this effort did not relieve the odor still prevalent around the lagoon. In the words of residents in the vicinity of the Liberty lagoon, "it still stinks out here."

Members of the park board are Joseph W. Reid, chairman, Linsey Hayden, Cline Cain and Leo Bopp.

Invite Negro Doctors To Clinical Sessions

DETROIT, Aug 9—(AP)— The American Medical Association today invited Negro doctors generally to attend clinical sessions at its midwinter meeting at Washington, D. C, Dec. 6-9.

The invitation was extended to Negro physicians attending the annual convention of their national medical association It came from Dr. George F. Lull, secretary and general manager of the AMA.

Military Rule In Ecuador to Stop Looting

Some Indians Had Threatened to Go on Rampage

By Jorge Mantilla

QUITO, Ecuador, Aug. 9—(AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso's government took stern measures to prevent looting and disorder in Ecuador's earthquake area after the army reported that some Indians had threatened to go on a looting rampage.

The cabinet authorized military rule wherever necessary in the stricken area. The threat of Indian trouble plagued authorities struggling to house and feed 100,000 persons made homeless by Friday's earthquake.

Health Problems

The destruction of water systems brought threats of public health problems. An airlift continued flying supplies into the stricken region.

A spokesman for the president said the government had not yet been able to compile a death list, but estimated the toll was between 2,000 and 4,000. Earlier estimates of the dead had ranged up to 6,000.

Some persons thought a complete tabulation might never be made.

The authorities were prepared to hit hard against looters. Civil guards and police said they would shoot without questioning anyone caught pillaging ruined buildings and fields.

Military to Area

A special cavalry detachment was ordered to the Pelileo area, one of the most heavily damaged regions, to control the Selasacas Indians.

Army officers said they learned from Salasacas Indians that members of the tribe planned to loot the ruins.

The government planned to issue $117,000 worth of bonds to finance quake reconstruction. Newspapers said the country might obtain a loan from the United States.

Child Dies of Burns; Fell Into Hot Water

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—Judy Dixon, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs T. S. Dixon, died in a hospital here today from burns suffered yesterday when she fell into a bucket of scalding water

The accident occured at the Dixon farm home near La Plata, Mo., when Mrs. Dixon was preparing chickens for a cold storage locker and the child backed into the bucket of scalding water on the floor.

Youth Injured While Mowing on Farm

Jimmie Lee Shireman. 15-year-old son of Clarence Shireman, of Houstonia. was injured Monday evening while mowing clover on his father's farm As the boy stepped down off the mower, the cuff of his pants caught on the power-take-off shaft and pulled him down. The flesh on the inside part of his right leg was torn to the bone He was taken to Bothwell hospital about 8:00 o'clock Monday night where he is now a patient. The injury is not serious.

Says Vaughan Called Him to White House

Stating His Friends Were Interested in Construction Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Housing expediter Tighe Woods said today that Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan summoned him to the White House in 1948 and told him Vaughan's friends were interested in a California race track construction case.

Woods said the track owners then were trying to get government clearance for construction at the Tanforan track, near San Francisco, Calif. The use of scarce building materials was sharply restricted at the time.

The housing official told a special Senate investigating committee that Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, told him at the White House on Jan. 9, 1948:

Wanted No Prejudice

"I want to make sure there is no prejudice in your office just because this is a race track case."

Woods said Vaughan also told him:

"Some friends of mine are interested and it is your duty to handle the case on its merits and on its legality."

Francis D. Flanagan, an attorney for the committee, previously had read a private memorandum saying Vaughan had stepped into the dispute. It quoted Vaughan as saying he was "damn sore" at Frank L. Creedon, federal housing expediter in 1947, for his handling of the case.

Creedon was succeeded by Woods, who testified he had been expediter only a little more than two months when Vaughan got in touch with him.

Work Went on

The government had ordered construction work at Tanforan halted in 1947. Other witnesses testified that construction went ahead anyway and that it took a court order to stop it.

Flanagan said the memorandum which purported to be the gist of a telephone conversation with Vaughan, came from the office of James V. Hunt.

Hunt, a business counselor here, has been a key figure in the committee's inquiry in activities of so-called five percenters — persons who charge a fee for help in getting government contracts for others. Their commission is usually five per cent of the gross proceeds from the contract.

Hunt has said he is a good friend of Vaughan, but has denied that he ever attempted to trade on "influence."

Temperatures Are on The Up

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—There wasn't much on the weather map today to cheer the sweltering populace in the eastern half of the nation.

A narrow band of cool air was moving slowly eastward from the Rockies across the Dakotas and Minnesota, but it showed no signs of spreading out It was expected, however, to push into the great lakes region by late tomorrow and turn temperatures there back into the 80's after three days of 90-degree readings.

General cloudiness brought some relief throughout Texas, Oklahoma. Kansas and some other great plains areas Local showers were reported from South Dakota on southward to Oklahoma.

Temperatures upwards from the lower 90's were in prospect today from the Mississippi valley to the Atlantic coast The mercury kept within normal ranges along the Pacific coast.

Trick Picture Wasn't Funny

PEORIA Ill, Aug. 9—(AP)— A trick picture of a mammoth grasshopper which the Peoria Star printed yesterday wasn't nearly as comical as staff members thought it would be

The newspaper is begging forgiveness of its readers today and says it "regrets frivolous toying with the truth."

The trick picture was made by Velde Johnson, Jr., an amateur photographer It made the grasshopper appear to be as large as a hayrack on which it was riding.

The humorous caption for the picture said the 'hopper later was seen heading southward "in 100 yard leaps."

Shortly after the paper appeared on the streets. the Star's telephones were swamped with calls. Peorians wanted to know more details of the giant 'hopper. One reader indignantly said it should have been shot

A mother called the picture "terrible" and told the newspaper that it had shocked her children.

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Senator Vandenburg (R-Mich) today proposed a 50 per cent cash reduction in the first year's cost of the western European arms program.

The Michigan senator suggested to Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson that about $580,000,000 be furnished in cash by Congress—with the balance in contract authorizations (to be set later by appropriations) which would not be charged against the current budget.

Vandenberg said he believes the budget President Truman sent Congress for the 1950 fiscal year carries funds for European military aid which would cover almost all the money cost of the first year.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Some Republicans were reported working up a token protest today against President Truman's appointment of Attorney General Tom Clark to the supreme court.

Nevertheless Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, flatly predicted Clark's confirmation.

SAN FRANCISCO. Aug. 9—(AP)—The government expects to conclude its treason case against Tokyo Rose this week.

Prosecutor Tom DeWolfe said some of the government's 35 remaining witnesses may not testify against the defendant, Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino

Mrs. D'Aquino, who was born in Los Angeles and went to Japan shortly before World War II, is accused of treason by broadcasting from radio Tokyo to lower morale of American troops in the Pacific. The government says she was the wartime Tokyo Rose.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Secretary of Treasury Snyder today urged Congress to encourage private U. S. investments abroad by offering guarantees against what he called "risks peculiar to foreign investment."

This step would be in support of President Truman's proposal to help "underdeveloped areas of the world to increase their productivity and living standards" Snyder said. Mr. Truman made the proposal in his inaugural address last January.

Bills introduced by the administration would allow the government owned Export-Import bank to offer the guarantees.

Foreign Aid Bill Is Passed

Speeds Toward Final Action After Stormy Passage; Vote 63 to 7

By Don Whitehead

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The multi-billion dollar foreign recovery bill sped toward final congressional action today after a stormy passage through the senate.

Lawmakers expected a Senate-House committee to reach quick agreement on the somewhat different versions the two branches have passed. The Senate approved its bill late yesterday by a top-heavy 63 to 7 vote.

Senators ended almost two weeks of wrangling to shake the measure free from the confusion which had blocked action on more than $20,000,000,000 in money bills in addition to other legislation marked "must" by the administration.

Final Showdown

When the final showdown came, only six Republicans and one Democrat voted against the $5,797,724,000 measure.

The lone Democrat was Johnston of South Carolina. The Republican opponents were Capehart and Jenner of Indiana, Kem of Missouri, Langer of North Dakota, Malone of Nevada, and Williams of Maryland.

Despite all the sound and fury of debate, the Senate bill does not differ greatly from the House-approved measure. The Senate reduced the money totals about 10 per cent and added some amendments—none of which is expected to cause much trouble.

Kem made the final effort to amend the bill with a move to deny Economic Cooperation Administration aid to any nation which in the future nationalized a basic industry.

The amendment was drawn to throw a brake on the British labor government's socialization program.

Kem's Argument

Kem argued that socialization in Britain is slowing down the recovery effort. The United States, he said, should encourage private enterprise not only at home but abroad.

Opponents of his plan declared this would be an unwarranted interference by this government in the internal affairs of Europe.

The Kem amendment was ruled out of order last Friday by Senator Tydings (D-Md), the Senate's presiding officer at the time. He held it violated Senate rules against writing policy-making law into an appropriation bill.

Kem appealed the ruling but the Senate voted against him 50 to 21. He then tried to have the Senate suspend its rules to permit a vote on the amendment. This move lost 49 to 24—thus heading the amendment to its final defeat.

Dressing up Teen-Town Club

'Teen-agers will be surprised when they return to 'Teen-Town, located in the city hall building this fall, because big plans are in the making at the present time.

Just like everyone wanted—the dance floor will be larger and private, being seperated from the recreation room. More ping pong tables will be added, and some of the existing tables are being repaired and the pool tables recovered. Other improvements on 'Teen Town will we made before opening date. September 9.

'Teen Town directors expressed the desire for an electric record player and booths to line one side of the room so the youngsters will have a spot to eat their hot dogs and drink soda pop.

Anyone wishing to donate a record player or booths, call 536-W and it will be very much appreciated by 'Teen-Town personnel.

Group of Merchants Meet on Closing

Some of the Sedalia merchants operating chain stores have changed plans as to Thursday night openings.

At a meeting held Monday night in the J C. Penney company store, 28 merchants expressed their desire to remain open on Saturday night, but to close on Thursday nights. At the conclusion of the meeting, those present agreed that in their opinion Sedalia shoppers prefer Saturday night shopping to that on Thursday night.

Government to Have Planes In Air Show Here Sunday

Sedalia's annual air show, at the Municipal airport is expected to exceed the program of 1948 with the assistance of planes from the U. S. Air Forces. The show, sponsored this year by the Sedalia Lions club, will be free to the public and will be held Sunday, August 14.

The air show is sponsored by the Sedalia Flying club which members are cooperating with the Lions to produce a bigger and better event.

Scott W Donaldson special assistant to Secretary of Aair Stuart W Symington, informed the committee of the Lions that every effort is being made to give the show some color in government exhibitions. The plan will include a formation of planes to be flown over and will include four jet aircraft.

An air force representative is coming to Sedalia to complete the plans with the Lions club.

Little Girl, With Cancer, is Unafraid as Plane Crashes

ANNISTON. Ala., Aug. 9—(AP)—A little girl sat quietly and unafraid as a plane taking her to a date with a cancer specialist crashed while taking off today.

Nor was she afraid to board another plane which left an hour later for New York.

No one aboard was injured as the pilot calmly brought the ship down, after it hit a clump of trees.

Doctors said five-year-old Janice Medders has sarcoma, a dangerous form of muscle cancer which spreads quickly through the blood stream. They don't give the child much of a chance.

The Anniston Star sponsored an appeal which raised $500 to finance Janice's trip to New York for examination by a specialist.

Janice and her father, M. A. Medders, a garage mechanic, boarded a privately owned plane before dawn today.

The pilot, W. F Oswalt, said dew splashed across the windshield, and he hit a clump of trees near the runway. He cut the switch and brought the plane down right side up.

Janice and her father transferred to another plane piloted by Harmon Lane and left for New York.

Medina Showed Discretion in Permitting Reds to Rant

By Bruce Biossat

The "field day" is over for the attorneys defending the 11 Communist leaders on trial in New York. Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, who has been a model of patience through seven months of deliberate provocation and planned confusion, suddenly has switched tactics and is applying stern measures against the Communists' lawyers.

One of their most exasperating maneuvers has been to keep up an almost endless flow of frenzied argument, in defiance of general court room procedure and specific warnings from Medina. He has now told them they will no longer be allowed to indulge in long speeches every time they to object. He will ask a U. S. marshal to force them to sit down if necessary.

He has informed them their constant violation of many rules was willfully and deliberately done and "contemptuous." This was a further sign that when the trial is over the Communists' lawyers will certainly face serious contempt charges and possibly worse.

Medina likewise has directed the attorneys to stop trying to refute the charges against the defendants — conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government by force and violence — by making counter-charges against others.

"We've heard enough about force and violence by others," the judge said. "I want to hear what these defendants did or said on that score."

Many observers probably would say "its about time."

Many of them undoubtedly felt Medina should have meted out severe punishment quickly and thus halted the lawyers' irresponsible courtroom behavior at the start.

We think, however, that the judge acted with eminent good sense and high judicial purpose in giving the defendants and their lawyers wide latitude. He has thereby denied them any real chance of accusing him of prejudice and has averted the danger of a mistrial.

He has left the way open for the defense to compile a record of courtroom disobedience seldom if ever matched in judicial annals. That record will stand against the defendants should they try to appeal in the event of conviction Furthermore, it can now be used by Medina as good warrant for stern discipline which, if applied earlier, might have made him vulnerable to criticism.

It is really amazing that the Communists seem to believe their tactics have any value. They must imagine they are doing a superb job of discrediting American justice and at the same time spreading propaganda all over the map.

Actually about all they have accomplished by their disreputable courtroom tactics is to make Medina look like a very able jurist with a great talent for dealing with legal hooliganism.

American Negroes to Counteract Paul Robeson's Communism In Scandinavia

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, August 9 — A theatrical company of American Negroes will tour the Scandinavian countries next month to offset Paul Robeson's Communist-sponsored barnstorming.

The Negro players will present Henrik Ibsen's "The Wild Duck" in Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and thus demonstrate that all American Negroes aren't downtrodden, but can attain the same educational and cultural heights as other Americans.

This goodwill tour was arranged by the Norwegian embassy and Howard university of Washington, D. C., without any prompting from the state department. Twenty-one students and three instructors from Howard university's drama department will make the trip, most of the expenses being paid by Blevins Davis, American philanthropist, who also brought an American company to Denmark to play "Hamlet."

The idea of sending Negro players to Scandinavia was suggested by Ivan Jacobsen, staff member of the Norwegian embassy, after he happened to see the Howard university drama department in action. He felt that Paul Robeson had not painted a true picture of the American Negroes, and so on his own initiative promoted the tour as a gesture of people-to-people friendship.

Prediction: This will do almost as much good as some phases of the North Atlantic Pact.

The Amazing Maragon

Sam Boykin, head of the state department's gumshoe department and cousin of Alabama's congressman Boykin, is very secretive about it, but he is hushing up another strange chapter in the strange life of John Maragon.

Though the state department won't talk, Maragon was mixed up in a deal to buy all the surplus U. S. army vehicles in Germany—about 7,000 trucks, trailers and jeeps. The price was $1,250,000 and the sale was consummated Jan. 31, 1948, to a Belgian scrap dealer.

Maragon was representing a Britisher, George Dawson, who has a criminal record, and for whom he had also done some work in Washington with the War Assets Administration. Maragon's close contact in war assets has been Joe Major, a member of Truman's battery D, and an intimate of General Vaughan's. Major recently flew with the president to Little Rock for their battery's reunion. He also states that he has received about 500 phone calls from Vaughan, visits at his home about once a week and got to know Maragon through Vanghan.

Arriving in Paris in the winter of 1948, the amazing Maragon presented letters of introduction to Gen. Clyde Hyssong, in charge of war surplus for the state department, and then proceeded to charge the general with giving unwarranted information to Jack Van Allen, a rival of Maragon's who also represented Dawson.

In the end, the state department had to send a special investigator across the Atlantic to straighten out the row.

In the end, also, Dawson and Maragon did not get the 7,000 surplus vehicles, though they did get 700 army motorcycles after a heated row over the price.

Backstage With the GOP

The backstage story of what happened inside the Republican national committee shows how bitterly the Taft-Dewey forces are still divided.

The man chiefly responsible for Guy Gabrielson's hairbreadth election as chairman was Taft's close friend, hefty Republican Clarence Brown of Ohio.

It was Brown, working closely with Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, who induced Abel Shotwell of Nebraska to switch to Gabrielson, thus clinching a majority of the committee's 102 votes for the New Jerseyite.

In doing so. Brown definitely ruled himself out as a compromise candidate for the chairmanship.

At one point the Taft forces were flabbergasted at a Dewey offer, made by Mason Owlett of Pennsylvania, to support Taft's close friend, Brown, provided Gabrielson agreed to step out.

It was tempting bait but Brown didn't bite.

"I am not a candidate," he told Owlett. "I have come out for Gabe and I won't let him down."

Mississippi Vetoes Halleck

At one point when Indiana's Charlie Halleck was proposed as a compromise by Deweyites, Perry Howard, Negro national committeeman from Mississippi, threatened to resign.

"I can't face my colored friends and tell them I have been a party to any such compromise," Howard announced at the secret session. "I am opposed to Charlie Halleck and will step out if he is chosen as our leader."

Halleck's friends scoffed at rumors he is anti-Negro and insisted that Perry Howard was playing politics for his friend, Bob Taft.

However, another committeeman referred to "Drew Pearson's" report that the Indiana congressman rode around in Cadillac limousines on a congressman's salary.

"If Charlie Halleck were elected he'd have five Cadillac limousines around national headquarters," commented one Taft rooter.

However, when Halleck was approached by Deweyites he flatly refused to be a candidate unless Gabrielson dropped out of the race and he was to be elected unanimously.

• So They Say

The Marshall plan is like a dike around Europe. If it protects Europe from the poisoned flood waters welling up from Moscow, it will only be at the expense of diverting the tide across Asia. — Chinese President Li Tsung-Jen.

The materialism of modern life has been rendered even more grave by the weakening of the institution of matrimony. The war has caused the violent separation of millions of husbands and wives and destroyed millions of homes, aggravating the perils of immorality.—Pope Pius XII.

Out Kansas way, folks don't bother to define why they're friendly. They just are. — Joyce C. Hall, president, Hallmark Greeting Card Co.

Some critics of the Brannan Plan oppose it because it serves both the farmer and the consumer. In my judgment this is one of its greatest assets. A program that benefits only one group is not workable nor is it desirable.—Ohio Grange Master Joseph W. Fichter.

These recommendations of drastic reforms are opposed by many bureaucratic empire builders. It is only the citizens who can stop such obstructionism. — Former President Herbert Hoover, referring to the Hoover Commission's recommendations for government reorganization.

The world knows that this nation will always continue to seek a formula for settling international disputes without fighting, but never again with our eyes closed, never again through a policy of self-inflicted weakness. — Air Force Secretary W. Stuart Symington.

I want absolute freedom of worship and religious teaching; but at the same time I believe in separation of church and state. — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt denying Cardinal Spellman's charges of anti-Catholicism and intolerance.

Communism is basically rotten and contains within itself the seeds of its own destruction. This we believe with all our hearts and souls and it is time — past time — that as a nation we started acting on our beliefs.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, criticizing the Truman administration's "no-policy-at-all" in China.

Never in all the world's history was there a clearer or more urgent need for men to seek to eliminate controversy from their lives. Since controversy begins in the minds of men, it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed. — William L. Batt, president, SKF Industries, Inc.

Community-wide TB Surveys Can Save Unwitting Victims

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
WRITTEN for NEA Service

The great white plague, or tuberculosis as it is more commonly known today, is an infestious disease. The germ which causes it is most commonly caught from a person with the disease, although it can be carried also by unpasteurized milk or contaminated meat.

The best line of attack is to prevent the spread of the germ. One of the best ways to attack this problem is to survey the entire population of a community or city with the aim of picking out those who have the disease but do not even know it.

People who do not even know they have tuberculosis may infect others. The community survey has now become possible because of revolutionary improvements in the technical methods of diagnosing tuberculosis. This technical improvement involves the use of a tiny or miniature X-ray film.

Big-City Experiment

Probably Savannah, Ga., was one of the first large cities to try this method out on a large scale. The county in which Savannah is located has a population of 150,000. During the autumn of 1945, nearly 75,000 residents of the county appeared voluntarily for chest X-rays.

Since that time several other cities, including Washington, D. C., Seattle, Washington and Cleveland, O. (in which such a survey is now in progress), have carried out similar X-ray surveys aimed at revealing unsuspected cases of the disease.

Mass tuberculosis surveys offer a wonderful means of picking out unknown tuberculosis (and often equally unknown other diseases of the chest). This permits many thousands to obtain proper treatment early enough to bring about a cure and helps to protect their many relatives and friends from acquiring this serious disease.

Loving Your Husband is Fine, But Liking Him Helps Out, Too

After 10 years of reading letters from women, I've come to the sad and somewhat disillusioning conviction that a great many women don't like their husbands. Like, I said, not love.

How can you like someone you don't trust? And yet the wife who trusts her husband is pretty rare these days. Maybe it's because women have been fed so much "how to hold your man" advice they can't help being suspicious.

And how can you possibly like someone you think doesn't appreciate you? Yet there are an awful lot of wives who claim they love their husbands, and undoubtedly do, who are convinced their husbands don't appreciate them.

Also, how can you like somebody and be eternally irritated by him? "George makes me so mad . . ." is the standard way of opening up a let's-discuss-our-husbands conversation, when only women are present.

And if you like somebody, are you resentful for the things you do for his convenience and comfort? Women will knock themselves out to offer their friends the best hospitality they can dish up, but they complain about the dull business of feeding George three meals a day and keeping his home tidy.

Why Criticism Instead Of Admiration?

Also, if you like somebody you want everybody else to like and admire him. Why then do wives go to such great length to run down their husbands?

This, I think is the cause of much of the unhappiness of modern marriages. Too many wives don't like their husbands. And love just isn't a steady enough emotion to make for harmony day in and day out.

It's the wife who likes as well as loves her husband who is a pleasant companion and easy to live with. Because she likes him, he doesn't often annoy her or get on her nerves. She takes pleasure in making him happy and comfortable at home. And she wants everybody else to like him, too.

What man wouldn't be happy in that kind of atmosphere? But how many of them find it—at home?

The Nation Today

Step Taken Toward Bringing More People Under SS Act

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—For a long time there have been rumblings about bringing more people under the protection of social security and increasing the payments to old people.

President Truman has asked Congress to do it. Last night a step was taken in that direction when the house ways and means committee approved legislation to do that.

But this is only a bill which the committee will send up to the full house for a vote. The house may approve it before quitting, in a month or so, for the rest of 1949.

That's not enough to make even one change in the present law, unless the senate also approves. It's doubtful that the senate will do anything about it before quitting this year.

The Best Guess

The best guess is that the present law will remain unchanged for this year at least. It the house approves the bill this year, maybe the senate will next year.

Under the present law about 35,000,000 people are covered. The bill would bring in another 11,000,000, leaving 14,000,000 or so people still unprotected, many of them farmers.

There's no room here to go into detail of the law or the bill that would change. But one part of the law and the bill can be examined. That's old-age insurance.

That insurance is the payment or pension, which workers receive from the government when they retire at 65, if they've covered by the law.

Not All Workers Covered

(The present law doesn't cover many kinds of workers, like those employed by non-profit organizations, farmers and so on).

To pay for this old age insurance the government now collects a tax of one per cent from each "covered" employe and one per cent from his employer up to $3,000 of the worker's wages or salary.

(In other words, no matter how much a person made over $3,000, he'd be taxed only on the first $3,00 of it).

The committee bill would raise the tax—how much hasn't been decided by the committee—and it would raise the taxable income from the present $3,000 to $3,600.

Although the present law went into effect Jan. 1, 1937—the date on which the government started collecting taxes—no one bagan receiving the old age insurance until 1940.

The Highest Ammount

The highest pension, or old age insurance, that can be paid an over-65 worker now is $44.80. He won't get that much unless he had been receiving at least $3,000 a year since Jan. 1, 1937.

His wife, when she reaches 65, gets half as much pension as he does. So the wife of a man receiving $44.80 would get $22.40. Together, their total pension would be $67.20.

The committee bill would boost the pensions. A man now getting $44.80 would be jumped to $74.20 and his wife would get a jump in her pension to $37.10 from $22.40.

The lowest pension anyone can receive now is $10 a month. The bill would make the lowest anyone could get $25.

Bill Would Be Retroactive

The bill would be retroactive. For Example:

It would boost the pensions already being received by people who began getting it anytime between 1940 and the time the bill became law. How much of a boost they'd get would depend upon how much pension they've been geting.

Under the present law, suppose a "covered" worker became permanently disabled. He wouldn't get any pension until he reached 65.

Under the bill a worker—say 30 years old—who became permanently disabled now would get a pension, a pension as much as he would receive if he had worked to 65.

THE STORY: A wealthy widow, Mrs. Everson, is fleeing with her servants in two giant trailers from an atomic war which she believes is impending. In the party are Mrs. Malone, cook and housekeeper; Rudy, the chauffeur; Victor, the houseboy, and the Marchese Delinessa, Mrs. Everson's companion. It becomes evident that Mrs. Everson is in love with Rudy and Mrs. Malone hears from Mrs. Everson herself that "after the explosion," men will be weak and that those who have prepared for survival will rule. Mrs. Everson intends to be a dictator. Mrs. Malone has tried several times to run away, but she has failed each time. Now she tells herself wearily, she will let the thing work itself out.

* * *

ON the morning of a bright, calm day, the trailer caravan came to a small settlement: little more, really, than a general store and a cluster of shacks—what had been, 50 years or more ago, a mining town.

Mrs. Everson purchased most of the storekeeper's stock of stale chocolate bars, soap, twine, pop, cereals and canned fish. The old fellow wanted to know where they were going, but got no answer—only one of Mrs. Everson's marble-blue stares.

The Marchese, dressed as if for the beach at Cannes, inspected the dusty shelves, admiring faded bolts of cotton-cloth and trays full of cheap combs, as if he were shopping at Cartier's.

"Very nice," he said. "Very smart."

For himself he bought a pair of gloves lined with lamb's wool, and a hunter's cap with a visor like a duck's bill. Mrs. Malone realized that it was his kindly impulse to please the old storekeeper, who might have suspected these elegant visitors of patronizing his stock.

This was the last outpost of civilization. Here there was at least a telephone, a stretch of pavement, a garage, a fly-specked "hotel" advertising rooms at 50 cents a night, dinner $1.

Beyond, for 75 miles, the shining procession moved cautiously along a dirt road that seemed to take its own wilful way, climbing steadily as it pierced narrow, fertile valleys or emerged into long stretches of arid land.

At one moment they were among trees, the next they were plowing heavily through sand. And always, in the distance, a wall of tumbled mountains grew imperceptibly nearer and higher.

* * *

LATE in the afternoon the trailers entered a beautiful, wooded canyon, narrow between high walls. The sun touched only the topmost russet rims. Below, where a shallow and crystal-clear stream meandered in a wide, boulder-strewn bed, everything seemed bathed in green light. Birds were flashing high up, their wings catching the last gold of the sun.

Presently the canyon walls drew back, leaving space for a miniature forest. The caravan rocked and bumped through this for some little distance, then dipped steeply into the river-bed. At this point the stream made a hairpin turn around a large sand-spit.

And here, on this sand-spit, at last, they stopped for good.

* * *

MRS. MALONE'S first reaction was one of great happiness, the upper level of her mind taking time out for a brief holiday from apprehension.

It was as if she had entered into a new dimension, where time, with its endlessly ticking seconds, had ceased to be. A mysterious beauty enfolded this refuge; it was as hauntingly unreal as a dream, yet with none of a dream's vague terror. Here was only peace, a deep satisfaction, an exquisite sense of safety.

The river-bed was strewn with boulders and silvery-dry branches and logs. On either side the forest stood straight and tall, forming aisles and arches, shadowy corridors into mystery. And all about them, now, loomed the mountains.

There was no time to explore the terrain before night closed down. It turned cold beneath the stars, and soon after dinner everyone went to bed. Mrs. Malone lay in the purple-blue darkness, conscious of the release from tension, her body relaxed, listening to the ceaseless rush and plash of the stream. Soon she fell asleep, and slept all night as a child sleeps who knows it is surrounded by love. The last thing she thought was:

"I'm glad I came. This is wonderful. Wonderful . . ."

Morning, too, held the same quality of exultant peace. There was much to be done, and Rudy, with Victor's help, began the job of making permanent camp.

There were many things to be done, but the first thing, which assumed prime importance to Mrs. Everson, was the location of the trailers. She decided to leave the big trailer, which was her home, on the sandy point in the river bed.

This trailer was jacked up by Rudy and Victor and resettled on strong supports.

Next Victor drove the small trailer and the sedan to higher ground, overlooking the river bed, a little distance away in the woods. It would be necessary for Rudy, Victor and Mrs. Malone to scramble up and down the bank to go from one trailer to the other.

The truck, until unloaded, was to remain where it had stopped.

CHURCH NEWS

"Does It Pay," was the topic presented before a meeting of the Women's Guild of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Michael Wolfel, chairman of the social service department, assisted by Mrs. O. A. Wagner, Mrs. Louise Metcalf, Mrs. Fred Griessen, Mrs. Louise White and Mrs. Roy Strain who real letters from persons in German acknowledging the receipt of packages of food and clothing. The letters were full of gratitude, not only for the life giving food but for the fact that there the Christians in the United States who care for them.

The women of the Immanuel church, agree that food packages for a former enemy nation, pay big dividends both to the Christian church and to the individual Christian.

A worship service, preceding the program, was led by Mrs. William Bessmer, spiritual life chairman. A loaf of bread, lighted by a single candle, formed an effective worship center in keeping with the topic which followed Mrs. Bessmer quoted from the Vision of Sir Launfal: "The Holy Supper is kept indeed in what so we share with anothers need. not what we give but what we share, for the gift without the giver is bare; who gives himself and his bread feeds three; himself, his hungry neighbor and me."

Mrs. Elmer Maune, president, presided during the business session. Mrs. Leonard Williams, assistant educational chairman, announced the September program with Miss Hazel Gray, speaking on the subject, "The World Council of Churches." Mrs. Richard Gray gave a stewardship message. Mrs. Fred Kueck, missionary chairman, gave a sketch of the life of Albert Schweitzer, missionary serving in Lambberene, Africa, who is now visiting in the United States.

John Crecelius was announced to be altar boy during the month of August by Mrs. Ernest Liebel, altar chairman.

Mrs. Williams, social chairman, reported 52 adults and a number of children were served at a luncheon preceding the meeting.

Other chairmen reporting were: Mrs. Hubert Smith, thank offering; Mrs. Earl Eakin, revision; Mrs. Lottie Meisenheimer, membership; Mrs. R. R. Ramlow, spiritual life,; circle leaders; Mrs. Lloyd Satterwhite; Mrs. Elmo Harlin and Mrs. Orville Perkins.

Mrs. Elmer Maune reported on the mid-week conference of the Women's Guild which she attended July 5-8, at Doane college, Crette, Neb.

The president appointed the following nominating committee: Mrs. Roy Lierman, Mrs. Gene Teeter and Mrs. Hubert Smith.

The annual picnic of the Royal Ambassadors of the First Baptist church chapel was held at the Liberty Park, Monday. There were 14 persons attending.

Pettis County Teachers Plan Meeting

Being Held Today At Court House; Health a Topic

The Pettis County Teachers Plan meeting held today at the assembly room of the court house was well attended and a constructive program was presented with Mrs. John W. Lewis, president, presiding.

The school health program was discussed and questionnaires which included the definition of health, personal health program, school health program and community health program, were filled out by the teachers. Health is one of the points on the scorecard for better schools. Assisting at the meeting to help Supt. C. F. Scotten and the county chools plan a health program were Louis Payton, of Higginsville, district public health engineer, who is also in charge of sanitation for the State Fair, and Mrs. Ester V. Johnson, R. N., district public health nurse from Higginsville.

Interested in Program

The health program will consist of school immunization the details which will be given later. Mrs. Johnson stated that on a whole she found the health conditions good. Interest in the health program was very high, Mr. Payton said, with teachers taking practically the entire box of literature he had brought to the meetiing.

Mr. Scotten announced that all teachers have been employed for the year. During the meeting the teachers divided into six study groups and selected their projects and activities for the year. Officers in each group will be elected later.

Following the meeting a reception was held at "Dunroven," the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Scotten, 1629 West Eighteenth street.

Oil Cauldron Bubbling Over

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—(AP)—The oil cauldron is bubbling over again. The fires of discontent in the industry are being fed by those who produce oil here and and see their production being cut back and by those who import oil from their rich overseas fields to supply the huge American market for oil and gasoline.

Sometimes the same American companies do both, and that brings the dispute right into the family.

But at least the consumer can take heart. The oilmen are fighting because there is plenty of it ground. All concerned promise that this winter there will be plenty of oil to heat the homes, pull the trains, power the factories and run the family car. It still is not entirely decided, of course, just what you'll pay for that oil. But the world jockeying for the market may play a part.

Court Eviction For Terrier

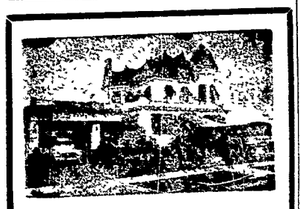

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9—(AP)—A landlord has a court eviction order for Patty, a 12-year old dog.

Municipal Judge John J. McMahon has ruled Patty must leave her owner's apartment because her hair aggravates the asthma of the landlord's son, also 12.

Another municipal judge earlier had thrown out the eviction case brought by landlord Leo Tarantino, holding the dog had acquired rights of occupancy through long residence.

But Judge McMahon said Patty, part Pomerianian and part Terrier, was a health menace to the child.

Sign Measure To Prevent Racketeering

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A bill to prevent racketeering in Missouri's aid to dependent children program was signed by Gov. Forrest Smith today.

It requires that before a mother can get state aid for her children she must show she has filed desertion or non-support charges against her husband if he is alive.

Sponsors of the measure said during legislative debate there have been numerous cases of a father deserting his family just to get the state money. After the mother gets state financial aid to rear her family, the father sneaks back and helps live up the money, the bill's sponsors said.

Other Bills

The governor also signed four other bills today. They will:

Increase the salaries of employes of the general assembly from $5 to $7 a day.

Simplify the method of paying blind pensions.

Set up a so-called uniform partnership act, along the lines of laws already enacted in some 29 other states.

Increase the salary of the St. Louis collector from $8,000 to $10,000 a year. His employes also would get raises, with the chief deputy being boosted from $5,300 to $6,000 a year.

C. of C. Asks For Suggestions

Questionnaires on "suggestions for "bigger and better Sedalia" have been mailed to 30 civic, fraternal, cultural and social organizations for members to fill out and return to the Chamber of Commerce. Everyone receiving a questionnaire is asked to list at least three projects they believe should be undertaken by Sedalia next year and to give any suggestions they may have for the betterment of the city.

Any citizen not receiving a questionnaire form any organization, who is interested in building Sedalia, may obtain a questionnaire from the Chamber of Commerce office, 114 West Fourth street, or write a letter to the Charmber of Commerce giving their suggestions for improvement of the city.

'Nonsene,' Says Judge Douglas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the supreme court today dismissed as "pure nonsense" Russian charges that he had been spying on them.

Douglas, who aroused Soviet suspicions when he and his son, Bill, 17, went mountain climbing in the Middle East, talked with reporters after calling on President Truman. He said with a laugh that his seven-week journey abroad was "purely a pleasure trip."

The justice and his son visited the front in Greece and brought back a picture of Greek guerrilla forces captured by the government. He said about 35 per cent of the guerilla fighters are women.

He gave Mr. Truman a picture showing him with a pack mule which he said was "undoubtedly from Missouri."

Judgment Given, Then Plaintiff Dismisses

The replevin suit of Robert Williams, Thirtieth street and Ingram avenue, against Bernice Williams, his estranged wife, for furniture was dismissed in Magistrate court this morning by the defendant who was awarded a judgment against the plaintiff.

The case was tried several days ago before acting magistrate Earl Crawford, who after hearing evidence took the matter under advisement. Later he gave judgment to the defendant. This morning before Magistrate W. M. Ilgenfritz, Mrs. Williams stated she wanted to dismiss the case.

L. J. Harned represented the defendant and Frank Armstrong the plaintiff.

Pettis Countians Study Plan Of Medical Care to Indigents

A group of Pettis countians including representatives from the county court, the Welfare Board and the county Medical Society, have returned from a trip to Topeka, Kas., where they went to investigate a plan in operation there which services the medical need of the indigents of Shanwee county.

The plan in Topeka was the original county system and has been patterned after by counties all over the United States because it has proved a satisfactory arrangement to all concerned.

A contract between the county, the welfare society and the county Medical Society provides a system in which money is set aside for the care of each indigent on the welfare rolls, at present the amount is $5.00 a month for each case, and from that a schedule has been set up where medical attention is given through the operation of a clinic. The money also pays for necessary hospitalization, and takes care of house and office calls, as well. The indigents are encouraged to attend the clinic, however, as doctors are paid a certain sum for their services at the clinic.

The patient has the choice of a physician provided said physician is listed among those members of the Medical Society who participates in the plan. The docotors in Shanwee county are participating 100 percent because they believe it to be better than the county or city physician system. It costs less money, it lifts the load of the indigent patients and gives the patients better medical care.

Also operating in connection with the county health department which is class 1, public unit, the highest rate according to the United States Public Health. A full time public health officer is employed to operate the clinic and for consulting on pest control, inspection of meats and sanitary conditions and veterinarian work, which is part of the city and county health unit services.

Home Nursing Also

The home nursing service, which also comes under the clinic provides nursing care in homes or gives training in homes where some knowledge of nursing care is needed.

The purpose of the visit of the Pettis county group was to study the plan and obtain ideas in event that such a system should be considered in this county.

Smoke Filled Crowded Cars

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—(AP)—Shouting and screaming subway passengers today pushed and shoved their way from the smoke filled cars of an independent system train. Six were taken to hospitals suffering from smoke.

Thousands of persons gathered near the station at 42d street and Eighth avenue — a block from Times Square — as the passengers of the eight-car train boiled up through exits from the smoke-filled station underground.

Police said a loose metal plate dragging from a northbound train caused short circuits, exploding the electrical circuit under each car.

There were blinding flashes and then odorous smoke seeped into the darkened, crowded cars. There was no fire police said.

Normal service was restored in about 15 minutes.

Termite-Riddled Pole Snaps, Man is Killed

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A termite-riddled power line pole snapped off at the ground and fell yesterday, killing Woody Dahmer, 24, Independence, Mo., who was working at the top of the pole.

Club Members Tell Of Accomplishments

The Longwood Neighbor club met at the home of Carolyn Leftwich Friday August 5, with six members present.

The president, Elanor Leftwich, called the meeting to order, opened by George Harvey leading the group in repeating the the pledge. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Ruth Ann Podd. Roll call was, "What I Have Accomplished". Mrs. Lloyd Leftwich quizzed the group on table manners and after the meeting adjourned, games were played and refreshments were served.

Loyal Rebekah lodge No. 260 will meet in regular session at 8:00 o'clock Friday, August 12th at the Odd Fellows hall.

Mrs. Fred Anton, Jr, N. G.
Mary Belle Harbit. Secretary.

BRITISH READY AIR GIANT—Aircraft workers draw the double-decked hull of Britain's latest and fastest flying boat into a fitting out hangar in Cowes, England. With a seating capacity of 105, the 140-ton craft will be capable of flying a non-stop service between London and New York at a speed of 380 mph. The hull alone is equivalent in weight to three-and-a-half Constellations.

Cigarettes Plentiful In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug 9—(AP)—A sign of prosperity in Germany: The German railroad is doubling the number of smoking compartments on its trains.

The reason: Cigarettes, once so scarce and expensive they were the backbone of the blackmarket, are now so plentiful and cheap that more people can afford to smoke them.

A pack of cigarettes which once was valued at ten dollars, now brings the equivalent of 75 cents.

'Family Fuss,' No Charges

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—An Alabama farmer was released without charge after he told police he kidnaped his 11-year-old niece here yesterday.

Ivan G. Cannon, 27, of Sumiton, Ala., said he took Betty Jo Holmes from the home of her father, Bill Holmes, 33, and put her on a bus for Alabama.

Holmes' first wife died at the child's birth, and the girl was left with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Cannon, at Sumiton, Cannon said.

At Holmes' request a month ago, the girl came to Springfield to visit him for two weeks. When Betty Jo didn't return after three weeks, Cannon came here after her. He said she told him she wanted to go back to Alabama.

Prosecutor Wayne Collinson said it was a "family fuss" which would have to be settled in Alabama.

Policemen Now 'Delivery Boys'

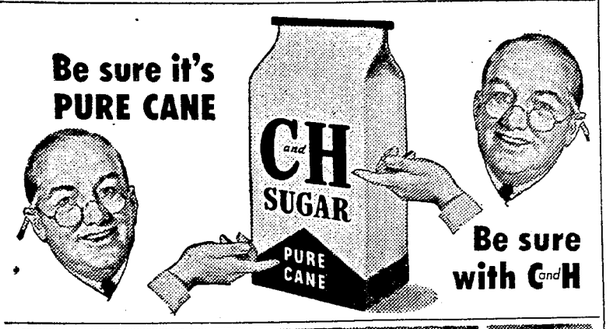

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—You might just label Police Sgt. James Loethen and Patrolman Roy Hogg the' "delivery boys."

Sunday they officiated at the birth of a baby here, the third such emergency experience for Leothen and the second for Hogg in the past year.

Parents of the young mother tried vainly to find a physician yesterday, they explained. In desperation, they called police and asked specifically for Leothen and Hogg.

That was because the pair delivered a baby just a week ago and got their names in the paper.

Rutledge After Sentencing

Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr. (left), of St. Louis, leaves the court room at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, after being sentenced to 70 years in prison. He was convicted May 28 of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of Byron C. Hattman, also of St. Louis, in a hotel room at Cedar Rapids last December. The defense contended that Hattman had pursued and seduced Dr. Rutledge's wife, Sydney, 22. Escorting Rutledge from the court room are Sheriff Jim Smith (center) and Deputy Sheriff Harlan Snyder. Mrs. Rutledge Leaves Court

Under the watchful eye of an unidentified woman spectator and child, Mrs. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., 22, walks from a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, court room after hearing her husband sentenced to 70 years in prison. Dr. Rutledge, 28, was convicted of second degree murder in the hotel room stabbing of Byron C. Hattman at Cedar Rapids last December. During the trial at Cedar Rapids, the defense contended that Hattman had pursued and seduced Mrs. Rutledge. The prosecution contended that Rutledge followed Hattman from St. Louis, where the Rutledges and Hattman lived, to Cedar Rapids with the intent to kill Hattman. (AP WIREPHOTO)

To Vermont With Goats And All

WESTFIELD, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—It was too hot in Arkansas for Arthur's health, so the lady with the goats is trekking back to Vermont.

And she isn't traveling light. Besides herself, Mrs. Arthur Lamear, that is, there are 12 goats, two horses, a colt, 25 chickens, tow dogs and a wagon filled with household goods.

That's one colt and 25 chickens more than she had when she left Bethel, Vt., for Mt. Hope, Ark., Jan. 25, 1948.

"Art couldn't stand the wagon trip," the 54-year-old latter day pioneer said Monday. "He went ahead by train."

Mrs. Lamear and her entrourage left Arkansas July 5. She and her husband hope to reestablish themselves in Bethel. They sold the goat farm they bought when they went to Mt. Hope.

On the outbound trip, which Arthur also by-passed due to his health, Mrs. Lamear got as far as Batavia before publicity finally caught up with her. An audience participation radio show (Heart's Desire), with the cooperation of a Batavia radio station (WBTA), took up the burden and arranged for truck transportation.

Mrs. Lamear says, hopefully, she'll reach Batavia on this trip tomorrow or Wednesday.

The Lamears left Vermont originally because the cold climate interferred with Arthur's full recovery from an auto accident.

No Sign of Peace

HONOLULU, Aug. 9—(AP)—An imminent threat of government dock seizure brought no sign of early peace today in Hawaii's 100-day waterfront strike.

Backed by a new territorial law to put the government in the stevedoring business, Gov. Ingram M. Stainback ordered the islands' 2,000 striking longshoremen and seven struck firms to resume work immediately.

Mangrum Leads Field By 4 Strokes

All-American Golf Prize is Worth $3,333

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Lloyd Mangrum went after the $3,333 top Tam O'Shanter all-American golf prize today with a 4-stroke lead over the field.

Mangrum blazed through the humid 95 degree heat and some 3,000 followers for a 37-33—70 third round yesterday and a three quarters mark of 204, 12 strokes under par.

Sam Snead, the year's leading money winner with $23,560, faded to a two-over-par 74 for a total 209 after being only one stroke behind Mangrum at the halfway mark.

Running Close Behind

Behind Mangrum were big Clayt Heafner with a 69, Bill Nary of Los Angeles with 67, and Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, former national collegiate champion, who fashioned 69. All had a three-round tally of 208.

Tied with Snead at 209 were Johnny Palmer with a third round 67, and Herman Barron, 1946 Tam champion, with a par 72.

Colorful Jimmy Demaret pulled up with 210, while 9 were tied at 211. They included Henry Ransom, Herman Keiser, Jim Ferrier, Porky Oliver, Johnny Bulla, Pete Cooper, Toney Penna, Harry Todd and Jerry Barber.

In the all-American women's open field, Louise Suggs, the 115-pound pro from Carrollton, Ga., had a five stroke lead with a 54-hole 227. She added a one-over-par 77 yesterday. Babe Zaharias, the defending champion, made her bid with a 74 but landed in the 232 bracket with another pro, Betty Jameson, who shot a third round 81.

Many Fillies Are to be Raced

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—The gents may have to take their hats off to the ladies in the 24th Hambletonian stake here tomorrow, for exactly half of the expected 18 starters are fillies.

And don't think the trotting gals haven't had a lot to say about harness racing's blue ribbon classic in the past. Seven of the weaker sex have grabbed the event since it was started in 1926. Only one filly, Regret, has won the Kentucky Derby in 75 runnings.

While most of the attention in the filly ranks has gone to Martha Doyle and Miss Tilly, a late comer had the folks around Good Time park taking second looks today.

She is Rosamond, a chestnut beauty owned by Gib White of Lexington, Ky.

Bangaway still rules the choice of most observers hereabouts. The Toledo, Ohio, colt owned by C. M. Saunders is reported in top form for the event, which will gross $68,500 if all 18 start.

Considerable support will go to Martha Doyle, roan filly owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kas. Derby sent out Yankee Maid, last fill to cop the Hambletonian in 1944.

Martha Doyle won the coaching club trotting oaks at Goshen's historic track last month, beating Miss Tilly. Her time of 2:05 equalled the world record for trotting fillies on a half-mile track.

Toppers Will Play Sweet Springs Tonight

For their first engagement, the Sedalia Toppers and the Sweet Springs nine will clash in a softball meet tonight at 7.00 o'clock at Sweet Springs.

This should be a very evenly matched game because Sweet Springs is just a shade under Emma in power, and Emma always manages to edge a victory over Sedalia.

Sedalia's ace girl pitcher, Miss Mary Ellen Merrill will be on the hill, with Sue Sole, doing the catching duties.

The Toppers have a season record of seven wins against three losses. Wednesday night, the local team will attempt to even the count when they meet Houstonia there.

The girls will leave from Smith-Cotton to journey to Sweet Springs at 6:00 p. m.

Eagles And All-Stars Play Footbal Friday

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson's college All-Stars were reported clicking with his Oklahoma style split T offense today as they headed for a secret practice tonight at Soldier Field.

Meanwhile at Grand Rapids, Minn., the Philadelphia Eagles, who will meet the All-Stars Friday night at Soldier Field, planned a light workout tonight, one tomorrow and then a warmup Thursday night at the Chicago field.

Wilkinson was reported pleased with the way several backs have been using his offense style. All expected to play Friday. They are Norm Van Brocklin, Harper Davis, George Guerre, Joe Geri, George Taliaferro, Frank Tripucke and Jack Mitchell.

EATING IT UP—Boy on the left shouts a bit of encouragement while momentarily forgetting his ice cream, young lady is about to bite her tongue, avid fan devours hot dog, and girl nibbles on her fingers during Dodgers-Cardinals series in St. Louis. Baseball players may work hard but these scenes at Sportsman's Park demonstrate that fans use plenty of energy, too.

Junior Legion To Play Bolivar

The Sedalia Junior Legion Post 16 team will play host to the Bolivar Legion team in an exhibition game tonight at Liberty park, with game time slated for 8:15 o' clock.

The Sedalia aggregation, zone champions, will be gunning for their third straight victory since returning from the zone and state tournaments. They have defeated two "3 and 2" league teams of Kansas City — the Liasa Hansan team, 5 to 4 in a thrilling 10-inning affair, and the Sid Street Motors team 11 to 7, the later game being played Sunday.

Either Bill Brown or Bob Ray will be on the hill tonight for Sedalia, with Leon Nold to do the catching chores. The rest of the probable starting lineup is as follows Ruffin center field, Morgan third base, Walker, shortstop; Holst, left field; McCrary, right field, Broaddus first base, and Shawver second base.

Palmer Nichols and John Thomas will do the umpiring for tonight's contest.

K.C. Blues Drop To 7th Place

By the Associated Press

The Columbus Redbirds broke a six game losing streak last night and today are tied with Minneapolis for fifth place in the American Association.

St. Paul, the league leader, and Indianapolis, two games behind in second place, maintained the pace by winning again.

Cotton Deal won his 10th game of the season as Columbus beat Milwaukee and Brewer pitcher Al Epperly 1-0. Mel McGaha drove home the run with a single.

St. Paul beat the Toledo Mud Hens 7-4. Ferrel Anderson doubled with the bases loaded in the fifth for the Saints.

Indianapolis beat Minneapolis 5-2 with the help of Jack Cassini's homer with one aboard and Ted Beard's two run single.

Louisville tightened its grip on fourth place by whipping Kansas City 8-1 and 4-1. The Blues dropped to seventh place.

Slaughter is Living Proof That Experts Are Wrong

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Enos (Country) Slaughter, the St. Louis Cardinals' "ball player's ball player," is a living proof that baseball experts are a funny race.

In pre-season polls, the majority of scribes ignored St. Louis as a pennant threat because the Cards "were too old." Thus, without saying so, they pointed the finger at Slaughter, who at 33, was the oldest regular on the club.

Today, these same experts predict that the Cards will win the National League flag. Why? Because of the presence of this same Enos Slaughter.

He's missed only games although at various stages of the race, he's been plagued by a bad back, sore legs, a stiff neck, a bruised thigh and a slight shoulder separation.

Slaughter's current batting average of .331 is exceeded only by Jackie Robinson's .364.

Enos Enjoyed a Big Night

Enos enjoyed one of his biggest "days" last night when he walloped two home runs and drove in six runs to lead the Cards to a 9-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Redbirds needed the triumph to maintain their first palce tie with Brooklyn, as the Dodgers already had nipped the New York Giants, 2-1. The two contenders started the evening's activities deadlocked for the lead. Those were the only games played in the majors.

Slaughter's one-man forsay enabled Howie Pollet to register his 15th victory although he was touched up for a dozen hits. The cards could get only five safeties off loser Kent Peterson and three successors, but took advantage of seven bases on balls.

Four straight walks in the forced in a Cardinal run across and left the bases loaded. Country promptly unloaded them with his second four-bagger of the game and 10th of the season. Slaughter hit his first homer in the third with Nippy Jones aboard.

Newcombe Hurled Good Game

Big Don Newcombe pitched one of his best games of the year in subduing the Giants with a three-hit shutout until the ninth when Whitey Lockman sent his first serve over the right field screen to spoil the shutout-bid.

Jackie Robinson was the big gun for the Dodgers. He slashed his 13th homer in the second and set the stage for the winning run in the eight with a single that sent Carl Furillo to third. With the bases loaded and two out, loser Dave Koslo walked pinch hitter Bruce Edwards to force Furillo over the plate.

Yesterday's Sports In Brief

Tennis

NEWPORT, R. I.—Richard Gonzales, national champion, was forced 34 games by Richard Moule-dous in the first round of the Casino Invitation Tournament.

MANCHESTER, Mass.—Louise Brough, Los Angeles, gained the third round of the Essex County club women's tournament.

Miscellaneous

STOCKHOLM — United States touring track team won four of five events in dual meet with Swedish forces.

LONDON — Daily Mail said Bruce Woodcock intends to fight Lee Savold for British version of world heavyweight championship if doctors report his condition favorable.

Declares War on 'Five Percenters'

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson tells the Senate investigating committee at a Washington hearing that he has vowed to break the power of "five percenters" — agents who use influence with government officials to secure contracts for clients. (AP Wirephoto)

Unmask The K. K. K. In Georgia

ATLANTA, Aug. 9—(AP)—Georgia's Ku Klux Klan was unmasked Monday by the "imperial edict" of its wizard after South Georgians had gone gunning for robed night riders.

Wizard Samuel Green said henceforth members of his association of Georgia Klans would junk their hoods to keep the Klan from being blamed for the acts of others.

Green's order followed a shooting scrape in Iron City, Ga., in which the town's mayor, C. L. Drake, and a group of friends swapped shots with a motorcade of robed Klansmen.

The "Imperial Wizard" said his organization was not involved in the affair and blamed the incident on a "Bolshevik" group operating out of Columbus.

Meanwhile, Mayor Drake and Klansmen found themselves involved in charges and countercharges.

The Klansmen left Iron City after midnight Saturday, pursued by flying lead—and subsequently, by the mayor.

Mayor Drake raced 38 miles to Dothan, Ala., sometimes at a speed of 100 miles per hour, after a Klan official.

In Dothan he had the man, booked as Bill Hendrix of Tallahassee, Fla., arrested on a warrant charging assault with intent to murder. Hendrix later was released under a $500 bond.

The mayor returned to his home town and there was subjected to a warrant charging attempted murder.

The warrant was taken out by James Beard, who identified himself as the Iron City Klavern's Cyclops.

In 1940 James Colescott, then Klan chieftain, ordered all masks and visors destroyed.

Child Killed in Fall From Building

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Eleven-year-old Truman Edward Parmelee was killed here Sunday when he fell 120 feet from the roof of an apartment building.

A playmate, Edward Floweree, 10, told police he and Truman had climbed an inside fire escape to the roof of the 10-story building "just to mess around." They did not live in the apartment building.

The victim was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Parmelee.

Off For a Ride

Shiny, the pet crow of Robert Erb, 13-year-old DeWitt, N. Y. youth, gets a toe hold and grabs a strand of hair as he takes a ride atop the boy's head. Robert found Shiny in the woods and raised him on dry cereals, milk and water. Shiny now ignores worms, roosts outdoors at night, but spends daytimes with his master, Robert says. (AP Wirephoto)

Saves Life Of Boy Buried In Sand

CHOCTAW, Okla., Aug. 9—(AP)—A Choctaw farmer dug through three feet of sand in five minutes Monday to save from death a 15-year-old boy buried in a landslide.

The farmer was Herbert Baade who was near the scene of the slide when Billy Joe Lawson was covered.

Billy, his brother, Andrew, 14, and Paul, 12, and a sister, Bonnie Lee, 11, were playing around the 12-foot bank of dirt. It had been dug from the side of the road.

The bank gave way suddenly and Billy was trapped in an upright position under three feet of sand.

His brothers and sister began yelling for help and Baade, who was driving a tractor, rushed to the scene. He grabbed one of the shovels the children had been playing with and dug furiously until he uncoverfed Billy.

Bonnie Lee's feet were covered with sand, but she was freed quickly.

Billy was taken to an Oklahoma City hospital. Doctors said he suffered no serious injury.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lawson, farmers who live near Choctaw.

Accuse Truman of Fanning War Hysteria

MOSCOW, Aug. 9—(AP)—Pravda accused Pres. Truman Monday of fanning war hysteria and poisoning the international atmosphere.

The attack, written by Commentator M. Marinin, occupied almost a full page in the Communist party newspaper.

"History teaches us ruin is the inevitable fate of every policy based on risk-taking," Marinin wrote. "Such failure also awaits the policy of President Truman and his friends.

"The warmongers continue to rush about, for they feel time is against them. The powerful camp of peace goes forward to meet tomorrow, confident of its strength in its truth and in the deep reality of its purposes."

Child Cured of Strange Illness

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)—The seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Glenn, Jr., was pronounced cured Monday of a strange illness that prompted her parents to race her here from Salina, Kas.

Much of the 450-mile automobile trip was under police escort at a speed of 80 miles an hour.

Physicians said the girl, Frances, will leave Lutheran hosptial today.

The child was stricken near Salina Saturday while the family was en route from Vallejo, Calif., to St. Louis. Penicillin was administered at a Salina hospital. The Glenns arrived here less than eight hours later.

PAYS FOR POLIO

New Policy Pays Maximum of $5,000.00 Toward Care and Treatment

COSTS LESS THAN 1 CENT A DAY!

This new Postal Polio Policy COSTS LESS THAN 1 CENT A DAY—yet it pays a maximum of $5,000.00 toward the care and treatment of polio (infantile paralysis), as authorized by the attending physician.

The policy will pay, when needed, $5,000.00 toward these expenses: Hospital bills, including room, meals, drugs, serums, medicines and other services, doctor bills; treatments; physiotherapy; use of iron lung; ambulance (maxium $50.00); nurses (maximum $12.00 a day); orthopedic appliances (maximum $500.00); a round trip to another locality for special treatment.

Insurance goes into effect immediately! Written for any age—babies, children, adults provided polio is not present in the home. Pays regardless of what other insurance you have. NO TIME LIMIT on period over which benefits are paid!

The cost is less than 1 cent a day—only $3.00 for a full year's protection—for each person.

Just send us the name, age and relationship of each child and adult to be insuresd — sign your own name and address—enclose $3.00 for each person to be insured.

We will refund your money in full if you notify us within 10 days that you are not satisfied with the policy.

DO NOT DELAY! Address Postal Life & Casualty Insurance Company, Dept 2259, 3934 Broadway, Kansas City 2, Mo.

Traffic Cases

In police court, this morning, one speeder and 19 overtime parkers forfeited cash bonds for failing to appear before Judge Harry O. Berry. One stop sign violator pleaded guilty and was fined.

George Coops, Kansas City, forfeited a $10 cash bond on a speeding charge.

A. C. Mayfield, 1101 West Third street, pleaded guilty to running a stop sign at Third street and Missouri avenue, and was fined $5.00.

Eleven overtime parkers forfeited bonds of one-dollar each.

'Knights of The Road' Injured

Two "Knights of the Road," early today, in getting off of a fast moving frieght train of the Missouri Pacific railroad, lost solid footing and were rolled along the right-of-way in the railroad yards. One received severe injuries, the other, bruises.

This morning in police court both became guests of the City for 30 days after pleading guilty to trespassing on Missouri Pacific property. They were sentenced by Judge Harry O. Berry.

Ernest R. Jones, who gave his home as West Plains, Mo., suffered a fracture of the right arm between the wrist and elbow, a mangled little finger on the left hand, and minor abrasions about the body, a discolored left eye, and possible injury to ribs on the right side.

The second man is Carl Moody, Dallas, Ga., who was treated for minor brusise.

Both men were taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. C. B. Trader, physician for the Missouri Pacific gave them attention They were later released and taken to the city jail.

Bequest to Hospital

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A bequest of $100,000 to Mercy hospital here has been revealed in the will of the Baylis Thornton Gordon, Liberty, Mo., lawyer who died Wednesday at the age of 64.

He was crippled by tuberculosis of the hip when he was four years old, and throughout his career as a state legislator and senator he championed laws to help crippled children.

After Mid-Air Collision

This DC-3 Capital airliner, damaged in a mid-air crash with a small plane over Milwaukee, Wis., flew on for six miles after the accident to land safely at Milwaukee County airport. None of the 20 passengers aboard were killed. The pilot of the small plane, Arthur Rapps, 32, was killed when his craft crashed following the collision, which tore off a six-foot section of the airliner's right wing. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Search For Fissionable Material

Donald F. Reed, U. S. Bureau of Mines engineer, tests core samples with a Geiger counter as he searches through diamond drill cores and churn drill cutting samples at Rolla, Mo., in a search for fissionable materials. Leon Dupuy, chief of the Rolla branch of the Bureau of Mines, said some of the samples studied are appreciably radioactive. Although they do not represent a deposit of present commercial interest, he said, they may be of considerable future value. (AP PHOTO)

'City of Culture': Atom Basted Nagasaki Adopts Name After Losing Fight to Call Itself 'City of Peace'

CITY OF CULTURE: Nagasaki is happy with the name, although the city planning director says there are too many plans and ideas for culture. He'd like to see more "reconstruction, rahabilitation and reconversion."

By RICHARD C. FERGUSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

NAGASAKI, Japan — (NEA)— By an overwhelming majority of its voters, this atom-bomb-blasted city has become the "International City of Culture." It celebrates its new status with a three-day cultural festival to mark the fourth anniversary of the bombing.

The vote climaxed a four-year feud between Nagasaki, the second Japanese metropolis to feel the A-bomb's might, and Hiroshima, the first. Both cities wanted recognition as the "City of Peace." The dispute went to the Diet, and the legislators worked out a compromise. Hiroshima won the "Peace" title, and Nagasaki was given the "Culture" crown as a consolation prize.

After the citizens of Nagasaki approved the arrangement, with even the Communists joining in to support it, Mayor Hiroshi Ohashi announced that he felt the alternate title more fitting.

"I now think it is much more appropriate for Nagasaki to be called a 'City of Culture' because western civilization was first introduced here," he said, adding "Hiroshima has been a military city for decades and is not steeped with culture."

Plans for the city's future, to keep in step with the cultural motif, are not complete. But among the first suggestions was one calling for the erection of an international hospital to replace the Nagasaki University Hospital, which was destroyed by the bomb. Another possibility is a huge auditorium and library to hold international meetings.

But, says City Planning Director Morizo Shinohara, "We have too many plans and ideas. Everything depends on the condition of the national treasury. I am interested in making Nagasaki a 'City of Culture,' but I think we should devote our efforts to reconstruction, rehabilitation and reconversion at the present time."

Shinohara, a 36-year-old former bank official, pointed out that the once-prosperous city was now seeing dark days. Unemployment is growing, reconversion has been proceeding very slowly and "the city's economy has suffered sevcrely."

While Hiroshima is teeming with researchers, studying the effects of atomic radiation on the people and the city, there is apparently only one such project underway in the "City of Culture."

That is the work on vegetables and grains being conducted by Dr. Takeo Furuno, who was Agricultural Director of Nagasaki Prefecture before he resigned to devote full time to his research. The project began when the bomb exploded not far from Furuno's experimental farm.

Since that day, he has planted produce in gardens as close as 100 yards from the actual scene of the blast. His results show that the first year of planting brought no blossoms, the second year saw blossoms but no fruit, and the third and fourth years—bringing him up-to-date—most plants were normal.

On a visit to Nagasaki, Emperor Hirohito, himself an amateur botanist, asked Furuno three questions, a rare siege of verbosity for the quiet Emperor. He inquired whether Furuno is studying the effects of heredity (yes, he is); whether the results are being compared with Hiroshima (no, because no similar experiments are being conducted there); and did Furuno think the sterility of plants was due to food going into foilage instead of fruit (maybe so).

After four years of planting fruits, vegetables and grains, and comparing them with previous yields on the same land, Furuno has concluded that the crops now are better.

"I firmly believe," he says "that radioactivity from an atomic bomb hastens the growth and increases the yield of most vegetables."

Patrol Bill is Among Those Signed by Gov.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—A bill authorizing an additional administrative officer for the Missouri Highway Patrol, with the rank of major, was signed by Gov. Forrest Smith late Saturday.

The new law becomes effective October 14.

Under its provisions, patrol superintendent David E. Harrison must appoint from present patrol ranks a man to take over active control of the state police force when Col. Harrison is away from his deck. The major will receive $4,800 a year.

Under another bill signed earlier, the number of uniformed patrol officers and troopers is raised from 229 to 260 and all men receive a raise in pay. It, too, becomes effective Oct. 14.

The governor also signed three other bills into law late Saturday. He said today. They provide:

Other Bills

An increase from $10,000 to $12,000 a year for the probate judges in St. Louis and Jackson county.

A broadening of the powers of REA Electric Cooperatives so they may continue to serve an area which increases in population or is annexed into a municipality.

A definite semi-annual call for the financial conditions of state banks and trust companies. In the past the state finance commissioner generally has issued three bank calls a year, usually coinciding with similar calls for national banking institutions.

Balloting On By Ford Workers

DETROIT, Aug. 9—(AP)— More than 30,000 Ford workers cast ballots Monday on whether they approve a second strike this year in Michigan plants of the auto firm.

Balloting will continue through Wednesday with 50,000 more voters eligible to vote. Polling places were jammed on the first day of the election No incidents were reported.

Both the company and the CIO United Auto Workers union claimed an advantage from the heavy vote

The State Labor Mediation Board reported 28,347 votes today at the big Rouge plant and 2,700 at the Mound road plant.

Noel P Fox, state board chairman, said the balloting was proceeding smoothly.

Choice For Appeals Court

Governor Smith To Appoint Judge James W. Broaddus

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Gov Forrest Smith said Monday he would appoint Judge James W. Broaddus to the Kansas City Court of Appeals.

Broaddus is a Jackson county (Kansas City) circuit judge.

Broaddus will succeed the late Judge Ewing C Bland who died two months ago. He will serve until the 1950 general election when he must run on the record he has made by that time.

Judge Broaddus, 59, was appointed to the circuit bench in 1945 by former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, Smith's predecessor. In 1946, he was elected to a six year term on the circuit bench.

The governor said he did not make the appointment today because Broaddus said he had two or three cases he wanted to wind up before resigning from the circuit bench. Smith said the judge estimated he could clean up that work within a week

In making the choice, Governor Smith had to name one of three men nominated by the Appellate Judicial Commission They were Judge Broaddus, Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair of Jefferson City and Waldo Edwards, Macon attorney Only Edwards is a Republican

That, observers said, left the Democratic governor's choice between Blair and Broaddus.

Given Strong Support

Kansas City friends of Judge Broaddus put on a huge campaign in his favor.

Smith said he received 316 letters and telegrams urging appointment of Broaddus. The theme of the arguments for the Kansas City Circuit Judge, Smith said, was that Broaddus would keep the balance of representation on the Court of Appeals.

If either Judge Blair or Edwards were appointed, they said, the outstate section of the appeals district would have the balance of power on the three-judge court.

"All three of the names handed me are those of outstanding men," Smith told his press conference. "That made it a little hard to decide on one."

Under the non-partisan court plan—by which the three nominees were supplied for Smith to choose from—the governor later on will choose a Circuit Court successor to Broaddus.

A five-member Circuit Judicial Commission will nominate three men from among whom the governor will have to choose one to become circuit judge.

Medium Found Strangled

BALTIMORE, Aug 9—(AP)— A 60-year-old widow, who began giving seances and gazing into crystal balls after her husband's death, was found trussed and strangled with an electric cord in her apartment Monday night.

Police said she had been murdered.

She was Mrs. Emma A. Kefalos, who for many years operated a restaurant in east Baltimore's Polish-Bohemian section. Four years ago, she closed up the restaurant and became a medium.

A neighbor found her body.

Her hands and feet had been bound with clothesline. An ironing cord was wrapped tightly about her throat. The body was found lying face down on the living room floor, not far from a crystal ball and a cupboard containing several hundred bottles of what police termed a "love potion"

The whole second floor apartment had been ransacked. Clothes and other belongings of the widow were strewn on the floor.

Police listed robbery as a possible motive until they found $68 in an open dresser drawer and four valuable diamond rings and a sapphire ring in a kitchen tool box.

After the later discoveries, investigators said they were at a loss for a motive in the slaying.

Neighbors described Mrs. Kefalos as a friendly sort of person who used to visit them frequently.

Other Baltimore mediums offered their services to police They said they would attempt to "get through" to Mrs Kefalos and try to learn from her shade who killed her.

One, Mrs. Barbara Burns, said she believed Mrs. Kefalos would communicate from the spirit world to the material world, but that it "may take a little time"

Amendment By Kem Ruled Out

WASHINGTON, Aug 9—(AP)—By a 50-21 roll call vote the Senate Monday decided to rule out of Marshall plan money bill an amendment by Senator Kem (R-Mo) which would have withheld funds from Great Britain unless she stopped nationalization of her industries

Here is the vote of senators from Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

For the ruling—Fulbright (D-Ark), Kerr (D-Okla), Donnell (R-Mo)

Against the ruling—McClellan (D-Ark), Thomas (D-Okla), Kem (R-Mo). Schoeppel (R-Kas).
